THE PEACE QUESTION.

French Views of the Course of England—Suspicions of Her Motives—Her Course Criticised by the Press—Does She Act as the Agent of Prussia?—Russian Influence Invoked for the Bonapartists—The Terms that France May Yield and Prussia Accept.

TOURS, Oct. 24.—The Journal le Français says the armistice has not yet been concluded, but hope is entertained of peace. All are surprised at the attitude of England in this affair. Having paid no attention to the solicitations of JULES FAVRE or the arguments of M. THIERS she suddenly does much more than was asked of her—takes the initiative—and proposes bluntly a suspension of arms to allow the election of a Constituent Assembly which may make peace. In thus acting does England listen to general interests, to considerations of policy and humanity, or is she secretly pushed by the belligerent who has had all her sympathy up to the present time? Many persons, adds the Journal, incline to the belief that the English Cabinet is now acting by the advice of Prussia, who, stopped indefinitely before Paris, has made known to England that the time has come for action on her part.

HER RECENT OFFERS UNSOLICITED.

La France (newspaper) says England was not solicited again by France, whose application she at first refused. France asks not for an armistice, and has not authorized England to ask for one. Since the failure of M. FAVRE, France has thought only of organizing for defense. Whatever motive she may have, England must see that we are determined; she must notice the mustering of our Mobile Guards, and the spirit of Paris, Lyons and other large cities. As England now proposes an armistice, it must be because she understands that proposals will be made which we may accept.

ENGLISH MOTIVES IMPEACHED.

The Siècle more violently refuses to admit the good intentions of England, and believes that she is acting solely for Prussia, who at last finds out that she has undertaken an impossible task. England is advised to tell Prussia to make the most reasonable demands, else war à outrance will be the only result. The Gazette de France speaks to the same effect, and the Union has no confidence in the present move of England.

BAZAINE, BISMARCK AND EUGENIE.

It is reported here today, in explanation of the visit of Gen. BOYER to the King of Prussia, that offers of peace were made to Marshal BAZAINE, and he was invited to send an emissary to Versailles. People in official circles here dwell on the circumstance that the present move of England follows close upon the circular in which M. BISMARCK affects such concern lest the Parisians may suffer the horrors of famine; and they declare that France must act with courage and determination now; she must accept no humiliating condition. Some apprehension is expressed by persons connected with the Government here that Paris will refuse any peace the terms of which do not provide for the withdrawal of all the Prussians from France.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—There are rumors here that conditions of peace have been arranged between Marshal BAZAINE and King WILLIAM, by which it is stipulated that the Empress EUGENIE, who has given her consent, shall go to Versailles and sign a treaty, as the representative of the only Government recognized by Prussia.

RUSSIAN INFLUENCE—NAPOLEON.

It is intimated that Russia, not joining England, Austria and Italy in the effort to bring about peace, is acting independently but energetically in the same direction. M. RAIMBEAU, who saved the Czar's life when an attempt was made to assassinate him by BERESOWSKI in Paris on the 6th of June, 1867, has just gone from Wilhelmshoehe to St. Petersburg on a secret mission from the Emperor NAPOLEON.

The London Times of this morning says: "BAZAINE, when offering to surrender, demanded for himself a position which would probably have enabled him to take a prominent part in the restoration of order in France after the conclusion of peace." Gen. BOYER, on leaving Versailles, went to Luxembourg, to get RAIMBEAU, who had previously been to St. Petersburg, to go as an envoy to NAPOLEON at Wilhelmshoehe.

ENGLAND ENTITLED TO NO CREDIT.

TOURS, Oct. 24.—Fears are entertained here concerning the sudden decision of England to mediate between France and Prussia. Some parties imagine that it is a plot to aid in the re-enthronement of the Bonapartists, and others seem to acquire confidence in the eagerness of Great Britain to bring about a peace. It has been generally considered that England is willing to work more for the interests of Prussia than those of France, and the significance of her movement is apparent now that the difficulties in taking Paris have been demonstrated. Besides this, England is also aware that the large French armies just organized are quite prepared to act on the offensive; that the bad season is at hand, and the difficulty of obtaining food for the Germans rapidly increasing in consequence; and that Gen. TROCHU is preparing a series of formidable sorties. The journals and people who take notice of this phase of affairs, accord England no credit for her tardy action.

WHAT FRANCE MAY YIELD AND PRUSSIA ACCEPT.

It is assured here that the Paris Government will not cede an inch of territory nor pay a franc of indemnity, and it is feared the struggle will have to go on to the bitter end, unless the conditions prescribed by Prussia are very moderate.

FLORENCE, Oct. 23.—The Opinione, referring to the proposed armistice, says the French will doubtless agree, as a preliminary to peace, to dismantle the fortresses of Strasbourg and Metz, and to pay an indemnity of £80,000,000 sterling; but Prussia insists on the cession of Alsace and Lorraine.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—It is said that the basis of peace likely to be accepted by the Prussian Government, is the renunciation of territorial spoliation from France on receiving Luxembourg. It is reported further that safe conduct has been asked for M. THIERS to enter Paris, in order to obtain the acquiescence of the Government.

Satisfactory Progress—a Meeting Between Thiers and Bismarck.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—There is authority for stating that the negotiations thus far are proceeding satisfactorily. GRANVILLE proposed a meeting between THIERS and BISMARCK, and both assented. BISMARCK sent THIERS a safe conduct, but no basis has been accepted or suggested. GRANVILLE expresses himself gratified with the manner his overtures has been received at all hands by other neutral Powers as well as by the belligerents, but today, as yesterday, avoids expressing any confidence of their success. Nothing has been heard from Paris. Rumors of peace abound. It is reported that the Empress is participating in the negotiations, and also the Emperor; but it is believed that nothing serious is proceeding except from GRANVILLE's initiative.

Another Theory of the British Motive—The "Sickman" in the Background—Meetings at Versailles.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The intervention of England in favor of an armistice, it is stated on good authority, was induced by apprehension of ulterior designs on the part of Russia and Prussia to form a close alliance. The fact that Russia is quietly and effectively arming is well known, despite her official denials. England begins to see that the utter prostration of France would deprive her of the only strong ally to be depended on for the frustration of Russia's political scheme in the East. An uneasy feeling prevails in financial circles. It is anticipated that, should the efforts of England fail, she will adopt other stronger measures to secure the cessation of the war.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 24.—Herr WERDEN, attaché of the Prussian Legation, has left for Versailles with letters from the Czar to the King of Prussia.

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—Baron VON FREISEN, Minister of the Federal Council and Saxon Minister of Finance, has been summoned to Versailles.

THE WAR IN THE NORTH.

Stories of the Massacre of the Soissons Garrison—A Mutiny and Seven Killed—Popular Uprising in Ivry La Bataille—Siege of Verdun and Other Operations.

TOURS, Oct. 24.—The Progres du Nord (newspaper) relates the story of the massacre of the 4,000 Mobiles taken prisoners at Soissons, four days after their capitulation. Some of the other journals give the particulars of the alleged massacre of the French garrison which recently capitulated at Soissons. According to the journals the soldiers were all shot in the woods near that city—butchered in cold blood. The Government has faith enough in the story to make it the subject of an official inquiry, with a view to retaliation.

ANOTHER STORY.

ST. QUENTIN, Oct. 24.—A mutiny among the Soissons prisoners has resulted in bloodshed. Seven Mobiles were killed and three wounded.

VARIOUS OPERATIONS.

TOURS, Oct. 24.—A dispatch from Rouen, yesterday, has the following: At Ivry, in the Department of Eure, the entire population, men and women, have risen against the Prussians. A desperate struggle had occurred there, with heavy losses on both sides. The Prussians are concentrating at Gisors. News has been received from Verdun that the garrison made a sortie, in which they drove the enemy from some of their positions, killing many and capturing two mortars and twenty-two cannon.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 24.—Although the truce at Mézières has expired, all was quiet there today.

ST. QUENTIN, Oct. 24, via LONDON.—This city was evacuated yesterday. The siege of La Ferté has also been abandoned. The corps under the Duke of MECKLENBURG is returning to Paris.

OPERATIONS ABOUT ORLEANS.

Twenty-five Thousand German Soldiers in the City—The French Army in Motion—A Battle Again Imminent.

TOURS, Oct. 24.—Orleans is now occupied by 25,000 Prussians, with sixty pieces of artillery. The enemy have made fresh requisitions on the city. The Government carefully avoids giving information of the French forces on the Loire, but it may be stated that they are in motion, and the result will soon be known.

ANOTHER DISPATCH.

TOURS, Oct. 24.—Nothing official has yet been received from the armies around Orleans. It is rumored, however, that a battle is imminent there. The French will make an attempt to retake Orleans. The Prussian Commander at Orleans has posted placards all about the city, containing an appeal to the citizens and informing them that the French Government, and not the Prussian, is their real enemy. The journals reply to this appeal bitterly, encouraging the people to defend the country to the last extremity. They say that France was unprepared for the conflict two months ago, but she is now commencing to feel that she may struggle with success. Her people will make a fitting answer to the Prussian manifestations of friendship.

THE MOVEMENTS AT LA FERTE.

The following news is made public by the Ministry: The Prussians, while preparing to besiege La Ferté Saint Aubin, suddenly retreated, leaving behind all their utensils and quantities of stores. They went toward Laon. It is said a messenger arrived in the German camp, and the intelligence he carried caused the sudden departure. It is also reported that the Prussians suffered a defeat, with heavy loss, at a point in the neighborhood of La Ferté, and the troops were hastily withdrawn to reinforce the beaten army.

THE EAST.

Opening of the Bombardment of Schlestadt—Garibaldi's Operations—Desertions from Metz.

BESANCON, Oct. 23—via TOURS, Oct. 24.—Gen. CAMBRIEL's dispatches to the Government state that the Prussians have again attacked Chatillon-le-Duc, where they were repulsed the day before. At night, they retreated. We hold the position. We have taken many prisoners. The bombardment of Schlestadt commenced on Tuesday, the 18th. Some houses have been burnt in the town.

TOURS, Oct. 24.—No official news of GARIBALDI's movements has been received here, but it is understood he is organizing corps of free-shooters.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The deserters from Metz are so numerous that the Prussian commander before that city has been compelled to issue orders declining to admit them within the Prussian lines.

SIEGE OF PARIS.

Preparations for Offensive Operations—Prosecution for Publishing False News—Marguerite Bellanger and the Ex-Emperor—Trochu and Gambetta—The German Army Contribute a Day's Pay to the Wounded.

TOURS, Oct. 24.—News from Paris to the 18th inst. refers generally to the preparations making for offensive movements on a large scale, but no particulars are given for fear the intelligence may be of service to the enemy. M. POURTALIS, editor of La Vérité, had been imprisoned for publishing false news. It appears from an explanatory letter in that paper that it was Chevalier WICKOFF who furnished the notes for the report for which M. POURTALIS was punished.

THE PRIVATE LETTERS.

The Figaro gives details of the affair of MARGUERITE BELLANGER, proving that she assumed the maternity of the child of a great lady and the Emperor, to calm the jealousy of the Empress, and that M. DEVIENNE was involved in the affair. The publication of private documents found in the Tuileries, continued. Letters from CLEMENT DUVERNOIS to OLLIVIER clearly establish the liberal views of the former, who makes the remark, while urging reforms, that France is enervated, as a man would be who drinks coffee and spirits without eating substantial food.

CONFIDENCE IN THE AUTHORITIES.

Private as well as official accounts praise Gen. TROCHU for his good judgment and unremitting activity. His energy provides for everything; his popularity is unbounded. Paris feels the utmost confidence in his patriotism and ability. The Journal Officiel says all parties accord praise to Minister GAMBETTA for what he has accomplished, and adds: "Since his arrival in Tours he has organized armies, restored military discipline, aroused the public to the necessities and dangers of the situation, hastened armaments, settled many dissensions, made judicious appointments, and worked constantly; and a more confident tone is noticeable in the journals and the public, in consequence of the manifest improvement of affairs, brought about by his vigorous administration.

OPERATIONS OUTSIDE.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The German Army now investing Paris have appropriated one day's pay to the fund for the relief of the sick and wounded. The amount thus collected aggregates about a half million thalers....M. MIRANDA, the editor of the Paris Gaulois, has been arrested near Versailles by the Prussians....The Times this morning, in an editorial, praises the courage displayed by the Prussian Landwehr before Mont de Valerién on the 22d inst.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The French Cruisers and the German Steamers—Napoleon's Wealth—Bismarck and the English—A Ten-Million French Loan—Execution of Francs-Tireurs—Luxembourg.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—It is asserted vaguely that the French have captured and taken into the port of Dunkirk three large German steamers.

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—The steam-ships Westphalia and Cimbria, of the Hamburg American Packet Company, have arrived at Hamburg safely. The French story of the capture of German steamers does not refer to this line. The officers of the above-named steamers report that they encountered no French vessels on the German coast or elsewhere on the voyage. The Thuringia will leave Hamburg on Wednesday, the Westphalia and Cimbria following. Commerce to German ports seems to be as safe as ever, as the French fleet has apparently been withdrawn to Havre and other French harbors.

HAMBURG, Oct. 24.—No hostile or doubtful vessels have been seen off the mouth of the Elbe for the last four days.

BISMARCK AND THE ENGLISH.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—It is said there is no evidence in existence of NAPOLEON's having accumulated a vast private fortune. The correspondent of the Standard, today, viciously notes the eagerness of Count VON BISMARCK to oblige the American officers, the Ambulance Corps and the people of the United States, while totally indifferent to anything English.

A FRENCH LOAN.

It is said that M. LAURIER, agent of the French Government, has arranged a loan here with J. S. MORGAN & Co., bankers, for £10,000,000, at six per cent. interest, price 85. It is believed that the loan will be promptly taken in the London market. The Telegraph is confident that the proposed French loan will be eagerly taken here.

SHOOTING FRANCS-TIREURS.

TOURS, Oct. 24.—Advices from the invaded Provinces show that the Prussians continue to shoot Francs-Tireurs who fall into their hands.

NEUTRALITY OF LUXEMBOURG.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—At Luxembourg a permanent committee has been constituted to defend the neutrality of the Duchy. The population is indignant at the disposition of the Tours Government to cede the Duchy to Prussia instead of Lorraine.

CITY WAR NEWS.

The French National Bazaar.

The French bazaar which will be opened immediately at the close of the German Fair at the Thirty-seventh Regiment Armory, promises to be a brilliant affair. The French ladies are actively engaged in making collections in this City and vicinity. It has been decided that the Fair shall be divided into twenty departments instead of twelve, as was originally intended. The names of the ladies selected to preside at the different tables are to be published hereafter. An official account of the French National Fair, arranged by the French ladies at San Francisco, has been received, from which it appears that $51,034 50 has been realized, which the Finance Committee has been directed to transmit to the Central Committee, for transmission to Paris.

Under the auspices of M. JULES BERTON, the French Vice-Consul, a fair is also being organized by the French at San Francisco.

The Music Committee has now made arrangements for a vocal entertainment on each evening of the week, to be given by the leading German vocal societies of this City and vicinity. The first vocal performance was given by the vocalists of the Arion Society, last night, which attracted a large concourse of the friends of this famous organization. This evening the Hoboken Quartet Club, one of the victorious societies of the Baltimore Saengerfest, will make its appearance, and the Liederkranz will entertain the visitors of the Fair to-morrow evening. On Thursday two well-known German solo singers, Messrs. STEINS and CANDIDUS, will make their appearance, which will give the affair an additional attraction.

The French National Subscription.

Messrs. LASALLE & Co., of the Courrier, announce that they have received, through Mr. CHEVRIER, $260, raised at a patriotic meeting of the French at Akron, Ohio, which is considered a very liberal donation, as Akron is a small town, with a small colony of the natives of France.

He thinks the place selected should be the focus of art, literature and refinement, thus inviting the presence and commanding the admiration of the choice spirits of the civilized world. BASE-BALL.

The Athletics of Philadelphia vs. Mutuals of New-York—Victory of the Former.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—This afternoon 4,000 persons witnessed the game of base-ball between the Athletics of Philadelphia and the Mutuals of New-York. It proved to be one of the finest games of the season. It was well contested throughout, and the greatest excitement was manifested, particularly in the ninth inning. At the end of the fourth inning the Athletics had made three runs and the Mutuals nothing. In the sixth inning, however, the latter Club, by a brilliant display of batting, secured seven runs, skunking their opponents. At the end of the seventh inning the result was 8 to 4 in favor of the Mutuals. In the eighth inning, the Athletics whitewashed the visitors and secured three runs themselves amid great excitement. The score then stood 8 to 7 in favor of the Mutuals. In the ninth inning, by good batting, the Mutuals added four runs to their score, making the total 12, which required the Athletics to make five to tie and six to win. The spectators felt sure that this could not be accomplished, but they were to witness some of the finest batting of the season. REACH, MCBRIDE and MALONE each took first by small hits. The three men were on the bases when FISLER went to the bat, and by a fine hit to centre field secured his first, sending in REACH and MCBRIDE. SENSENDERFER secured his first base, driving FISLER to second and MALONE coming in on a foul ball. BERRY, who had thus far been unfortunate at the bat, by a corker to left field secured third base, sending home SENSENDERFER. The game was now a tie and great excitement prevailed. BERRY, on RADCLIFF's hit, then came home, winning the game amid great cheering. The heavy batting continued until ten runs had been made. The Athletics played beautifully in the field, but two muffs being attributed to them. The Mutuals played well, both at the bat and in the field.

Session of the American Social Science Association.

From the Philadelphia North American, Oct. 24.

During the present week the American Social Science Association will hold its ninth general session, at the hall of the University of Pennsylvania, the days fixed being Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and the sessions occupying both morning and evening. The Chairman of the Philadelphia branch of this Association is Hon. WILLIAM STRONG, Associate Justice United States Supreme Court, who will deliver an address on Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock. On the same evening Hon. CHARLES R. BUCKALEW, our Pennsylvania apostle of proportional representation, will deliver an address on that topic. Mr. BUCKALEW's six years' service in the National Senate is of less honor to him than his well-earned fame in connection with this subject, and there ought to be a large attendance to hear him. Civil service reform, another special favorite in Pennsylvania, will be the theme of two papers, both by Philadelphians; one on Tuesday evening, by Capt. JOSEPH G. ROSENGARTEN, and one on Thursday morning, by BRINTON COXE. Of the other papers to be read by Philadelphians we may mention "Mining Legislation," by ECKLEY B. COXE; "Method in the Study of Social Science," by Hon. WALTER H. LOWRIE, formerly Judge of the State Supreme Court; "The Evidence of Experts," by Dr. ISAAC RAY, and "International Industrial Competition," by JOSEPH WHARTON. These will all be peculiarly interesting, but especially Mr. WHARTON's paper, as he is a gentleman of extended information and original thought.

Among the papers to be read by strangers are "Minority Representation in Europe," by THOS. HARE, of London; "The Press in its Relations and Influences," by Hon. GEO. H. YEAMAN, of Kentucky; "Industrial Effects of the Present War in Europe," by Hon. DAVID WELLS, late United States Revenue Commissioner; "Present Condition of American Chartography," by Prof. J. D. WHITNEY, of Cambridge; "Would the Admission of the British Provinces as Members of the United States Benefit both Parties?" by E. H. DERBY, of Boston; "Homes for Working Men and Working Women," by GEORGE B. EMERSON, of Boston; "Relations of the Commercial Public to Legislation," by HAMILTON A. HILL, of Boston, and "Art Schools," by CHARLES C. PERKINS, of Boston.

"The History of the Sea," (French,) folio, two volumes in one, Gothic letter, very curious illustrations, Paris, 1543; price $9 50.

Nearly all the high-priced and valuable books were bought by Mr. FELLOWS and Mr. JOHNSTONE. The sale this afternoon will recommence at 4 o'clock. People who want to get their libraries replenished at very little cost would do well to attend.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

Arrival of Mails by the Steamer Great Republic.

The steamer Great Republic brought dates from Hong Kong to Sept. 12, and from Yokohama to Sept. 23. The intelligence was summarized in cable dispatches from San Francisco some days ago. Letters and papers embodying it having now reached this City, we supplement it with details.

China—Perils of Foreigners.

The news from China is not reassuring, so far as the foreign question is concerned. The Chief of the Foreign Office, TSENG KUO FAN, is reported to have strongly recommended the refusal of Count ROCHECHOUART's demand for the execution of the Mandarins concerned in the outbreak. At Chinkiang and Ningpo the populace had been showing increasing signs of hostility. At the latter place a placard, accusing foreigners of sorcery and kidnapping, had been posted, the account bearing a significantly strong likeness to that which preluded the outbreak at Tient-sin....From Pekin, everything was reported quiet, and likely to continue so through the Winter. The report was again current that CHUNG HOW, late Governor of Tient-sin, goes to Paris, with a Chinaman who returned with Mr. BROWN last year, and with Mr. MEADOWS and two young Frenchmen. A secret edict is out, laughing at the idea of giving up a Mandarin to foreigners. Count ROCHECHOUART's proceedings are severely criticised by foreigners, and Chinese officials are becoming very insolent to him. It is stated that Mr. WADE is going home, and that the American Minister and his family are to spend their Winter in the South. Count ROCHECHOUART's next ultimatum will expire on the 7th of September. He and Mr. WADE are to leave on the 9th of the month, with CHUNG HOW, for Tient-sin, to endeavor to settle matters there....The Christian missionaries were generally leaving their stations, and assembling for refuge and safety at Pekin and other central points. The feeling of uneasiness is general...Tient-sin advices to Sept. 7 set forth that that place remained quiet under the guns of the different men-of-war in port. Tens of thousands of soldiers, the Chinese say, had been collected here, waiting their supplies of food from the south, in order to carry them through the coming contest with foreigners. More vigorous measures were apparently being adopted for the apprehension of the culprits in the recent massacre. Hence there was more quiet, and a feeling of greater confidence and security. The Mohammedan rebels of the north-west were reported to be on their way to Pekin in force, and already to have arrived near the borders of this province. This, it was affirmed, accounted for recent seizures, rather than any desire to do justice to the hated foreigner.

A VICEROY'S ASSASSINATION.

The North China Herald gives the following account of the assassination of the Viceroy of Pekin, MA: "It appears that a relation of MA, either by blood or adoption, was in poor circumstances at Shantung, and, according to common usage, resolved to take advantage of his kinship with a person of the wealth which MA was known or supposed to possess. Accordingly, he repaired to Nanking and claimed large pecuniary aid or a remunerative office. The latter alternative was, we are told, declined, but the Viceroy gave a considerable sum, which, however, did not by any means satisfy the applicant. He pressed for more money, wrote, obtained audiences, and, in a word, persecuted MA beyond endurance. At last at a personal interview he was peremptorily told that if he was not satisfied he had better leave the city, for no more would be given him. Stung to fury by this intimation, he drew a dagger, and flinging himself upon the Viceroy, inflicted a wound in the groin which is said to have transfixed his bowels and penetrated the skin in front. The assassin was immediately seized and secured, but as soon as the affair was known outside a rumor was started first that certain Frenchmen had obtained access to the Viceroy and had killed him, and then that some of the French-disciplined soldiers acting under foreign orders had done the deed. The yâmen was at once surrounded and carefully searched, but nothing to justify their suspicion was discovered. But as every attempt was made to keep MA's dangerous state concealed, rumor soon became busy, and the most absurd stories were soon in circulation."

Japan—Neutrality Proclamation.

The news of the war in Europe had reached Japan, and the Government of the Mikado had issued a proclamation of neutrality, which had found its way into the newspapers without official authority.

POLITICS.

The Gazette of Sept. 22 has the following: "The ordinary dullness that pervades every land that has no stirring political action going on within its boundaries has quite taken possession of Japan. There has been a little change among the Mikado's Ministers; but it has ceased to be a matter of any interest to foreigners on the spot who is 'in' and who is 'out.' It cannot, therefore, be of any moment to those we write for, at a distance. All that comes under our immediate notice is of a tolerably satisfactory character, and shows that the Government is going through with its work of reconstruction in a very painstaking, thoughtful and generous spirit. All the old retainers of the Chiogunate are now provided for, and if the incomes of the higher ranks among them are not so large as before, their grade is honorably fixed, and they are spared the infliction of supporting a number of personal retainers. The army and navy are both on a more legitimate footing than heretofore; and everything seems to point to a long period of repose, such as may give the Mikado and his Ministers time and opportunity for consolidating matters throughout the Empire."

NOTABLES LEAVING THE EMPIRE.

Among the more prominent incidents of the month none is more suggestive than the fact that a party of officers of rank, from Satsuma, Tosa, Choshiu and Bizen, have been appointed to start for Europe by the outgoing Pacific Mail steamer. The intelligence first reached us that Prince SATSUMA himself and some other nobles had determined on going to the seat of war to observe how Western nations settle their differences when negotiations fail. It turns out otherwise. The old territorial Princes are not themselves going, but their high officers; and these will accompany a Mia, or Prince of the Imperial House, a youth of about twenty years of age, who stands in the relationship of uncle to the Emperor. We are quite sure that the young Prince and his suite will be received everywhere with distinction, and that their visit to America and Europe will be of material advantage to their country. We sincerely wish that SATSUMA and other of the old Daimios would themselves take a foreign tour. It would do more than anything else could to sweep away all old prejudices.

SILK AND SILK-WORMS.

The war in Europe has quite put a stop to business in the great staples of silk and silk-worms' eggs. Tea, therefore, becomes the only article of staple export in which the Japanese can deal with the foreigner. Imports are consequently much depressed; as, if the natives cannot sell they are unable to buy. The two last seasons have been so bad for the rice crop throughout the country, that the importation of rice has been prodigious—but naturally diminishing the power of purchasing the ordinary staple imports. Up to the present period, however, the weather has been very fine this season, and the best hopes are entertained of an abundant harvest. It is devoutly to be hoped that the weather may continue favorable; for, with the stoppage of the silk trade added to a bad harvest, the effects upon the country would be very ruinous.

THE DOUGLASS MURDER.

JACKSON BROUGHT TO TRIAL AT LAST.

Exciting Scenes in the Court of General Sessions Yesterday—Recorder Hackett Asked to Retire from the Bench—Motion of the Prisoner's Counsel and Defense of the Court—The Jury Impaneled and the Case to Proceed Today.

The trial of THOMAS JACKSON for the murder of ARCHIBALD DOUGLASS, which occurred one year ago, in the First Ward of this City, was begun, yesterday, in the Court of General Sessions, before Recorder HACKETT. At an early hour the building was thronged with those who took an interest in the case. The stairways and passages were crowded to such an extent that it was almost impossible to reach the Court-room. Capt. KENNEDY, of the Sixth Precinct, was on hand with a force of thirty men, who preserved admirable order in every part of the building. Within the Court-room there was scarcely standing-room, and the best efforts of Capt. MCCLOSKEY were needed in order to facilitate the movements of jurors, and to accommodate spectators and others with seats. Judges BEDFORD and BARNARD occupied seats by the side of the Presiding Justice during a portion of the day. Ex-Judge GARVIN and Col. FELLOWS appeared for the people, while Messrs. JOHN GRAHAM and WM. F. KINTZING represented the accused. JACKSON sat beside his counsel, and throughout the proceedings manifested a profound interest in all that occurred. He appeared pale, but was in better flesh than at the time of his arrest. He is very tall, and when he arose to confront each juror who was sworn, he was easily observed by all in the room. Two panels of jurors were summoned, but the first had not been exhausted when the required number were in their seats.

The hour of 11 having arrived, Mr. GARVIN arose and moved for the trial of THOMAS JACKSON.

Mr. GRAHAM—If the Court please—I wish, with all respect, for it is part of my professional oath which I never shirk from—I am one of those who believe that a counsel should know no man in this world but his client, and, however much and very recently that sentiment has been anathematized on the Bench, I subscribe to it. I have done it for twenty-eight years, and now, in the evening of my professional days, I don't mean to depart from that rule. However delicate it may be to take objection to the propriety of a Judge presiding at a trial, particularly in a trial of this kind, nevertheless, under my professional oath, and yielding to my convictions, founded upon my honest knowledge and belief, I desire, with all respect in the discharge of my duty, to object to the right of His Honor the Recorder to preside over this trial.

RECORDER—May I ask upon what ground you make that motion?

Mr. GRAHAM—Upon an affidavit which I desire to read to you privately. The ground is this, with all respect, that before your Honor he cannot have a fair and impartial trial; that your mind is made up against him, and that you are under a control that will deprive him of a trial of that description.

RECORDER—Now, Sir, read your affidavit.

Mr. GRAHAM—Then your Honor refuses to read it privately?

RECORDER—I do.

Mr. GRAHAM then read the following affidavit:

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS OF THE PEACE IN AND FOR THE CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW-YORK.

The People vs. Thomas Jackson, City and County of New-York, ss.—THOS. JACKSON, the deponent above named, being duly sworn, deposeth and saith that as he has been informed and believes, A. OAKEY HALL, Esq., some four months since, publicly remarked in a conversation at the City of New-York, that he had never wanted to see, and did not then want to see but one man hung, and that was JACKSON, (meaning this deponent,) or words almost identical with those, and of the same import; and that at the time of making that remark he exhibited both feeling and bitterness. That since the occurrence in question in this proceeding, various unjust, inflammatory notices have appeared in some of the newspapers of the City of New-York, wholly misrepresenting its character, and that from the style of some of them, this deponent has been informed and believes they resemble the style of Mr. HALL, and would seem to have been contributed by him, while others, from the pointedness and extravagance of their allusions, this deponent believes and charges were instigated by him and published through his instrumentality; that under any circumstances most of these notices, in fact all, have been or were the sult of personal or political malice; that as this deponent believes and charges, the feeling of Mr. HALL against him proceeds from a feud between him and another prominent public man of the Democratic faith, arising on or about the beginning of December, 1869, and heightened by different political matters and occurrences since that time, and particularly by a defamatory card (alleged to be from that gentleman) published in different newspapers in the City of New-York, severely reflecting personally upon Mr. HALL. That it appears to have been assumed that the deponent was a political friend and sympathizer of and with that gentleman, and that it has been determined, as this deponent believes and charges, at least by outside political influence, and so far as that influence can accomplish it, that the trial of the deponent shall be the vindication of (what is called) the Tammany Democracy in the dissension or quarrel now existing between them, and (what is called) the Young Democracy. That Mr. HALL is identified with the former, and the gentleman referred to with the latter, with whom this deponent seems to be placed by his (virtual) prosecutors.

And this deponent further saith, that as he has been informed, believes and charges, Mr. HALL is related to the present Recorder of the City of New-York; that it is a matter of general notoriety that he very much advises, controls and influences the judicial action of the said Recorder, and that the judicial acts of the said Recorder in important cases, and on important trials, are manifestly and undeniably with, and exhibit the peculiar style of composition, as well as the views and conclusions of Mr. HALL upon the legal principles and questions of fact involved in these cases and trials.

And this deponent further saith that he is advised by his counsel and verily believes, that it would be improper to permit his case to be tried, if it can be prevented, before the said Recorder, and that it will be utterly impossible to have a fair and impartial trial before the said Recorder, from the generally known and admitted influence of Mr. HALL over him, which he (this deponent) verily believes and charges would be exerted against him on his coming trial, should it take place before the said Recorder.

THOMAS X JACKSON.
mark.

Sworn to before me this 24th day of October, 1870.
J. R. MCCOMB, Jr., Commissioner of Deeds.

Mr. GRAHAM—In view of this, and to preserve all delicacy in this matter——

RECORDER—I cannot permit you to discuss this matter. I am a little astonished that a gentleman occupying the position you have for many years should have dared to present this most extraordinary application. You should have known, Sir, politics have nothing to do with the administration of justice in this Court, and therefore it is an outrage on your part to present such considerations to me at this time. Now, Sir, I trust, for your sake, that you don't believe the statements you have assumed to be facts, and for my own vindication it may be necessary to say that did I know or believe upon such examination I had the slightest prejudice or bias against this unfortunate man, or any other man under trial in this Court, I would require no suggestion from you or any other man in reference to the course I should adopt. Nothing should tempt me to sit in the position I now do. That is personal to myself. With regard to Mr. HALL, he is a Magistrate like myself. When occasion was necessary I have availed myself of his great experience and judicial knowledge, but I have no recollection at any time or place having had the slightest conversation with him on the subject matter of this case; I don't believe any such conversation occurred, and the charge made by your client is false. I am ready to be catechised by you myself in the position of a juror.

Mr. GRAHAM—I cannot swear your Honor before yourself, and I propose you retire from the Bench and another have your place until I catechise both of you. I am here to gratify no private malice. As long as a juror ——

RECORDER—Take your seat.

Mr. GRAHAM—You have no right to insult me in this way.

RECORDERR, (peremptorily.)—Take your seat, Sir!

Mr. GRAHAM—It is only here you can insult me.

Judge BEDFORD—In justice to my colleague and the Court I feel called upon to make some remarks. Last March, if I recollect, you appeared here for JACKSON, and argued against finding a second indictment for murder. Your argument was answered by the District-Attorney. Both arguments were very elaborate, and out of respect to you both I took several days to decide the question. I am forced to say, for the vindication of my colleague, that there is no man for whom I entertain a higher respect than JOHN K. HACKETT, the present Recorder; that during three or four days various points of law were submitted to me, when I was endeavoring honorably to do my duty to the prisoner and the people, and there was a pressure brought upon me not to hang or convict your client; but I must say to ——

Mr. GRAHAM—Have you any right to prejudice a man that is now to be tried for his life, by driving a plug into the mouth of his counsel and refusing to allow him to speak out? Is that proper?

Judge BEDFORD—You have perfect freedom to speak.

Mr. GRAHAM—You have no right to give me permission to speak or to whitewash the other side. If the public knew the truth, the public would be influenced in his favor. It is not consistent with propriety for you to speak thus, and unless I am again commanded to take my seat, I will protest against it. I am here to act as fearlessly and fairly as any gentleman on the jury. If he believes this prisoner guilty, it is his duty under oath to say so; if he believes him innocent, it is equally his duty to say so. And if I think this Court is so constituted as the prisoner could not obtain a fair and impartial trial, I would be perjured if I did not raise that objection.

RECORDER—You have made that objection.

Mr. GRAHAM—Yes, and it was met with insult.

RECORDER—The first insult was to me.

Mr. GRAHAM—I am ready to prove these allegations.

Judge BEDFORD—The pressure that was brought to bear was in his favor, and as for Mr. HALL——

Mr. GRAHAM—It must have been by his enemies with a view to deceive you.

Judge BEDFORD—The pressure was brought, and the presumption is they knew what it was brought for. As the Bench, of which I am a Judge, has been abused by saying that one of its Magistrates is governed by politics, I desire to say no politics controlled me since I became a City Judge, and if any one says so let him now speak.

RECORDER—Proceed to impanel the jury.

Mr. GRAHAM—Here is a dirty sheet I hold in my hand (copy of Herald) that seems to be the mouth-piece of this prosecution, and I intend to refer to it more in detail to the jury hereafter. One term of the Grand Jury acted under it. I make a motion that your Honor retire from the Bench, and that either—I don't think after the exhibition of Judge BEDFORD he should take your place—but one of the six Common Pleas Judges should be sent for to preside, in order that I may present a formal challenge to the Court as now constituted, and the propriety of your Honor's sitting on this trial.

RECORDER—The motion is denied, Mr. GRAHAM.

Mr. GRAHAM—I first make the motion your Honor retire from the bench, and that one of the six Common Pleas Judges be called upon to hold Court while I challenge the Recorder to sit on trial.

RECORDER—Your motion is denied.

Mr. GRAHAM—I take an exception.

RECORDER—Very well, Sir.

Mr. GRAHAM—I now move for liberty to file the affidavit which I have read as the basis of that motion. Here is the TIMES of this morning containing a severe article, and if it is not a libel, some one should be indicted.

[Mr. GRAHAM referred to an article in the TIMES showing that the leaders of Tammany were reviving old charges to hunt down those who have seceded from them and become connected with the Young Democracy.]

The affidavit was ordered to be placed on the file.

Mr. GRAHAM—I have not meant to insult this Court; I don't mean to insult it as a Court, and in making this motion I make it in strict accordance with my professional oath. I move that your Honor retire from the Bench on the ground that the challenge I have presented against your right to hold this Court is sustained by this affidavit.

The motion was denied, and the Court proceeded to impanel the jury.

GEORGE F. LEGGETT was the first juror called, and on being challenged by Mr. GRAHAM, Mr. SMYTHE, President of the Board of Education, and Capt. WALSH, of the Eighteenth Precinct, were sworn as triers.

Mr. GRAHAM—I object on the ground that WALSH is a Tammany man.

RECORDER—Appoint him and let Mr. GRAHAM take an exception.

Mr. GRAHAM—Why do you appoint him; he is a well-known politician? Would you appoint Sheriff O'BRIEN?

RECORDER—I don't think I would have any objection.

Mr. GRAHAM—Then send for him and I will take him; or I will take JOHN FOX, a person with whom I am not on speaking terms.

The Recorder overruled the suggestion, and the witness, having stated that he had no interest in the prosecution, was not affected by the newspaper reports of the case and was in a position to render a verdict in accordance with the evidence, was sworn in.

In the examination into the competency of Mr. NICHOLAS B. TAYLOR to sit on the jury, Mr. GRAHAM asked the witness did Judge BEDFORD'S statement produce any effect on his mind?

WITNESS—No.

Mr. GRAHAM—We believe this man who interceded for the prisoner was an enemy of his, and that it was nothing less than an attempt to destroy this prisoner, for he never supposed that Judge BEDFORD would be governed by any outside influence. We have never believed such a thing.

Judge BEDFORD—Do you want his name?

Mr. GRAHAM—Yes.

Judge BEDFORD—JOHN FOX.

Mr. GRAHAM (to witness)—Does that make any impression on you?

WITNESS—Not the slightest.

Mr. GRAHAM—From the frequency of so-called murder cases—and I maintain that in ten years there were only three murders; for these drunken quarrels are not murders—have you any prejudice against a man accused of homicide?

WITNESS—No, Sir.

The witness was directed to stand aside.

The long panel was then called over, in regular order, and a jury was obtained in a much shorter time than was expected. Several were commanded peremptorily to stand aside, others were rejected for being influenced by newspaper reports, and still more for being opposed to capital punishment.

Finally, the following jury was impaneled:

George F. Leggett, (Foreman,) painter, No. 301 Pearl-street.

James S. Valentine, stone-dealer, No. 696 Greenwich-street.

William H. Tailer, importer, No. 101 Franklin-street.

Clifford F. Eagle, broker, No. 22 Nassau-street.

George A. Duer, merchant, No. 11 East Twenty-ninth-street.

Abraham Raponsky, clothing, No. 106 Chambers-street.

J. Q. Adams, carpets, No. 281 Grand-street.

Theodore C. Bacon, baker, No. 26 Broadway.

Frank J. Millet, music, No. 395 Broadway.

Mark Roylance, engraver, No. 105 Nassau-street.

David Ackerman, carman, No. 697 Washington-street.

Henry J. Fogg, trimmings, No. 295 Canal-street.

The Recorder adjourned the Court to this morning, cautioning the witnesses to be punctually in attendance, and advising the jurors to hold no communication with any one in reference to the subject matter of the case.

FAMILY JARS.

A Singular Suit in the Supreme Court—Hughes Against Heath—A Daughter Against Her Mother.

The firm of HEATH & HUGHES, brokers, was quite recently well known in Wall-street. They met with heavy losses, failed, and finally went through bankruptcy. These names—reversed in order—now appear in Court as parties to a suit in equity. But it is the wives of the two husbands who were partners who are now engaged in litigation. It is all about the title to a house on Madison-avenue. Mrs. HUGHES is the daughter of Mrs. HEATH, and the daughter brings this action against her mother to compel her to convey this valuable house to the daughter.

In 1868, THOMAS W. B. HUGHES conveyed the house to Mrs. MARY M. HEATH, the consideration stated in the deed being $32,500. Mrs. HUGHES and her husband now say that the object of this conveyance was to pass the title to Mrs. HUGHES through Mrs. HEATH, and that Mrs. HEATH was immediately to execute a deed to Mrs. HUGHES; whereas, Mrs. HEATH and her husband, Dr. HEATH, say at the time of the conveyance Mr. HUGHES was largely indebted to Mrs. HEATH, and the house was conveyed to her in fee simple by an absolute deed in payment of that indebtedness.

The action was expected on for trial before Judge BARNARD on Friday last, when W. O. BARTLETT, Esq., who had just been retained as counsel for the defense, moved to amend the pleadings, saying that on reading the papers, and after conversing with his clients, he discovered that the attorney who was employed to draw the answer, and who was now absent from the country, had misapprehended the true nature of the defense.

IRA SHAFER, Esq., for the plaintiff, strenuously opposed this motion. Judge BARNARD granted an order to show cause why the proposed amendment should not be allowed, returnable before Judge CARDOZO, at Chambers, on Saturday morning.

At the appointed hour, the parties with their respective counsel appeared in Judge CARDOZO'S Court.

Mr. SHAFER spoke with fervor, and warming up with his subject, turned to Dr. HEATH and denounced him in such strong terms that the Judge rebuked him, and requested him to avoid the use of epithets in arguing before him hereafter. Mr. SHAFER insisted that the amendment ought not to be allowed, and cited a case in 16th Abbott in support of his position.

Mr. BARTLETT, in reply, said he did not think the case was here for trial, but merely to determine whether the defendant should have a trial of her case as it really exists, and to interpose her true defense, or not; and quoted the following language of Mr. Justice HARRIS, in 11 Howard's Practice Reports, page 170: "I regard it as very much a matter of course to allow any party to shape his own pleadings to suit himself, and for that purpose to permit him, at any time before trial, to amend his pleadings so as to present his own views of the questions to be litigated, upon such terms as may be equitable." "Here," said Mr. BARTLETT, "is an estimable and irreproachable lady—a mother and a grandmother—holding a home under an absolute deed, in fee simple, duly executed, acknowledged and recorded; and now comes forward this young man, bankrupted by his reckless speculations in Wall-street, and sets up a claim to this house, under an alleged verbal agreement, which Dr. and Mrs. HEATH utterly deny. To lay the very foundation of his suit he has to blacken the blood that runs in the veins of his own wife; that ran in the veins of his child that is dead; that runs in the veins of his child that is living; and that must run in the veins of any other children hereafter to be born unto him. The question before your Honor is whether this lady is to be stripped of her property without so much as an opportunity to interpose her real and true defense, merely because an attorney, now absent from the country, happened to misunderstand the instructions given to him."

Judge CARDOZO took the papers, and yesterday morning filed his decision, as follows:

Supreme Court—Mary E. Hughes vs. Mary M. Heath, &c., Special Term, CARDOZO, J.—In the case in 16 Abb. the Common Pleas did no more than say that when the proposed supplemental answer was so plainly sham that it would be stricken out on motion, [illegible] it would not be granted. But an answer is never stricken out on motion if upon the affidavits presented there is [illegible]. If the falsity be obvious [illegible] stricken out; but otherwise, [illegible] the affidavits strongly preponderate against the truth of the pleadings, the Court [illegible] the facts to be tried in the usual and regular method, and will not determine the matter by the unsatisfactory method of trial upon ex-parte affidavits. These remarks dispose of the present application, which must accordingly be granted upon payment of costs of the motion. I may add that if this unnatural litigation must proceed, no impediment ought to be placed in the way of ascertaining the very truth of the matter, on whichever of these unfortunate litigants the blow may rest; but may I not venture to suggest that affection, irrespective of the question of right, ought to control this case upon both sides, and it and not a Court should settle the difference between these parties.

EPISCOPAL MISSIONS.

Meeting of the Protestant Episcopal Board of Missions—Thirty-fifth Annual Meeting Yesterday—Reports of Committees.

The thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Board of Missions of the Protestant Episcopal Church was begun, yesterday morning, in the Church of the Holy Savior, Twenty-fifth-street, near Madison-avenue. There was a large attendance, not only of clergymen, but of the laity. Right Rev. Dr. WHITEHOUSE, of Illinois, being the senior Bishop present, took the chair. On the call of the roll it was found that the following Bishops were present: TALBOT, (Assistant,) of Indiana; CLARKE, of Rhode Island; COX, of Western New-York; KERFOOT, of Pittsburg; NEELEY, of Maine; BISSELL, of Vermont; NILES, of New-Hampshire; POTTER, of New-York, and LITTLEJOHN, of Long Island. Previous to the organization of the meeting there was divine service, with the administration of Holy Communion by the Bishops, who occupied seats in the chancel. Rev. Dr. W. A. MATSON was re-elected Secretary of the Board, after which a recess for half an hour was taken.

On re-assembling notice of the following resolution, passed at the last meeting, was given:

Resolved, That this Board respectfully requests its members to refrain from enlisting in other public engagements during the time appropriated for the business and other meetings of this Board.

Rev. A. T. TWING, D. D., Secretary and General Agent of the Board, then proceeded to read the thirty-fifth annual report of the Domestic Committee. In substance this sets forth the announcement of the death since the last meeting, of Rev. ISAAC P. LABAGH, and Rev. JAS. STONEY, M. D. It contains, also, a tribute to the worth and labors of the late Rt. Rev. Bishop KEMPER, of the diocese of Wisconsin. The report goes on to state that the Secretary and his associate, Rev. E. M. RODMAN, have spent nearly all the Sundays of the year in presenting the domestic work of this Board to such congregations of the Church as rectors or the limitations of time would permit them to visit. Rev. E. M. RODMAN for two years engaged in the service of the Committee as Associate Secretary and General Agent, has resigned this position, and accepted a call to the rectorship of Grace Church, Plainfield, N. J. The Young Christian Soldier has attained a circulation of 39,000 copies per month, a higher number by about 3,000 than has been before reported.

The mite chest system, which has for its central thought and principle the gathering of small offerings from many hands, is working well. In nine months 20,000 chests have been sent into the field at a cost to the Committee of $4,607 32. Six thousand three hundred and forty-one—nearly all that could be heard from in the first half year—have returned $8,340 65. It is hoped and believed that the January returns will not fall below $20,000. The chests are still called for at the rate of about 1,500 per month. There is much mission work to be done in the South and the East, in both of which sections the Committee would be thankful to have it in their power to do much more in the future than they have done in the past.

Incomplete statistical reports of missionaries, in all parts of the field, give the following facts: Baptisms, 2,904; adults, 646; infants, 2,258; confirmations, 1,733; number of services held, 17,345; number of new communicants, 1,675; number of children instructed in Sunday-schools, 6,547.

The number of missionaries employed by the Society, on Oct. 1, was 172; employed during the year, 192. Legacies received during the year, $13,973 73.

From the Committee's financial statement it appears that the receipts for the year were $134,985 13; disbursements, $127,854 01. Amount of deficiency, including salaries of missionaries and outstanding checks, $28,216 97. Amount contributed in dioceses, $126,162 87. The year covered by this report has been by far the hardest of the seven of the present Secretary and General Agent's connection with the Committee for raising money in behalf of their work, and yet the receipts are less than $5,600 below the figures of the previous year, which were the highest ever reached. It is believed that, but for the increased interest of members of the Church in her missions, within the past few years, the reduction would have been much more formidable and embarrassing. They have about them a wealthy Christian constituency; in proportion to its number, which is by no means small, the wealthiest on this Continent. To this constituency, through this Board, they make their report, and in the name of Christ, the Lord of all, their appeal for $175,000 in aid of the Home Mission work of the Church, during the present year.

The report was, on motion, referred to a Committee of three Bishops, three Presbyters and two laymen: Bishops of Pittsburg, Long Island and Vermont; Presbyters—Rev. Messrs. GIER, PORTER and BEACH; Laymen—Messrs. R. H. GARDINER and WM. WELSH.

Rev. S. D. DENISON, D. D., as Secretary and General Agent of the Foreign Committee, presented and read the annual report of that body. By this it appears that the receipts from Oct. 1, 1869, to Oct. 1, 1870, are $80,663 58; expenditures, $94,851 51; of which amount there were expended for the mission in Greece, $8,519 97; in China and Japan, $20,905 57; in Africa, $33,701 04; in Hayti, $3,067 76; for specific objects, $3,609 67; for publications, $5,069 77.

There is a balance due the Treasurer of $14,787 93; legacies received during the year, $15,884 99. The African missionary stations are Cape Palmas, where there is a female orphan asylum, Harper, Hoffman, Mount Vaughan, Rocktown, Half Graway, Graway, Cavalla, Riner, Bohlen, Sinoe, Bassa, Monrovia, Caldwell, Clay, Ashland, Crozierville, Congo Town—five of these being in Siberia. In China, Japan and Hayti the missions are producing good results, but the Committee appeal to the Church to furnish means for making them still more successful. The report was referred to a special committee, consisting of the Bishops of Easton, R. I., and New-Hampshire, together with Rev. Drs. Rylance, Tustin and W. F. Morgan and Messrs. Cyrus Curtis and Larz Anderson.

Rev. Dr. BENJAMIN HAIGHT then read the report of the Commission of Home Missions to Colored People. This report states that nineteen new schools had been established. The number of teachers employed, including clergy, is thirty-nine; the number of scholars is 2,069. The schools now in charge of the Commission are: In Newbern, N. C., and Wilmington, N. C., two each; in Raleigh, N. C., Fayetteville, N. C., Asheville, N. C., Charleston, S. C., Norfolk, Va., Petersburg, Va., Richmond, Va., Bolivar, Tenn., Memphis, Tenn., Berne, Ga., and missionary schools in Kentucky. The receipts up to Oct. 1, including balance in the treasury, are $17,581 38. There has been paid to missionaries and teachers $14,219 36; deficit, $991 80. The Pennsylvania branch has received $1,215 18, making the total receipts $18,797 28. Of this sum the Freedmen's Bureau contributed $2,040, leaving as contributions from the Churches $15,332 40. The whole number of parishes, exclusive of those in the Southern and South-western States, is 1,154, of which number only 269 have contributed to the funds of the Commission. The document concludes with an appeal for $14,000 to carry on its work during the coming year. The report was referred to a committee consisting of the Bishops of Maine and Arkansas, together with Rev. Messrs. Pynchon, Peterkin and Anstice, and Mr. S. B. Ruggles and Dr. Shattuck, laymen.

A report was then read giving an account of missionary work in Oregon and Washington Territory, after which the meeting adjourned till 9½ A. M. today.

In the evening, at 7½ o'clock, a general meeting was held at St. Thomas' Church, Fifth-avenue and Fifty-third-street, where several addresses in aid of the missionary enterprises of the Church were delivered, and a collection for missionary purposes was taken up.

Contagious Diseases—Notice to Physicians.

The City Sanitary Inspector was yesterday instructed by the Board of Health to issue the following circular to the physicians of this City:

The neglect of the medical profession to report cases of contagious diseases, occurring in their practice, to the Health Department, is not only in violation of the law, but also deprives the profession of the means of obtaining correct statistics of the movement or prevalence of certain diseases. The Health Department being the only medium through which statistics can be concentrated, it becomes the duty of all to furnish such reports, not only for the scientific study of diseases of a contagious character, but also for the application of measures for arresting the spread of such disease.

Fatal Accident at Prospect Park—A Child Drowned.

Shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning a team of horses attached to a carriage containing PATRICK MCGOUGLE and his wife, WILLIAM HIGGINS, PATRICK MCCLOSKEY and a girl six years of age, named MARY DORAN, took fright at the gate of Prospect Park, Brooklyn, and dashed off across the square at the entrance, and rushed into the huge basin of the fountain then in play, dragging the vehicle and its occupants in also. Several policemen and a number of citizens rushed at once to the assistance of the [illegible], and succeeded in a few seconds [illegible] all but the child from their strange [illegible] unhurt. THE BISHOP CASE.

Motion to Substitute Attorney—The Court Orders That Mrs. Bishop Get Her Papers.

The case of ELEANOR C. BISHOP against her husband for divorce, which has been so long and so bitterly litigated, came up again yesterday before Judge JONES, in the Superior Court, Special Term. The motion on the present occasion was made by Mr. PECK, as counsel on behalf of Mrs. BISHOP, for an order of the Court to compel GEORGE JONES, alias "The Count Johannes," the present attorney of record, to relinquish his right to continue to act as her attorney, and to restore to Mrs. BISHOP's possession the papers in the suit. Lengthy affidavits were read on both sides, recounting the acts of the parties to the motion, most of which, however, have already appeared in the published proceedings in the case from time to time. It was stated by Mr. PECK, on behalf of his client, that she had been driven to want and despair, and the night before, faint and giddy from want of proper food, had fallen down two flights of stairs, breaking her arms and sustaining other injuries which confined her to her bed.

Counsel on both sides, being apparently in readiness at the appointed hour, Judge JONES inquired if they were prepared to go on with the motion.

Mr. JONES responded that he was not the attacking party; that the assault came from the other side.

Mr. PECK said this was a motion on behalf of Mrs. BISHOP against her attorney of record, to have him removed. On such motion Mrs. BISHOP would be regarded as her own attorney, while he (Mr. PECK) appeared as her counsel. Unless the other side made it necessary, he would submit the papers to the Court without any statements of their contents.

Mr. JONES then called upon Mr. PECK to produce a letter written by him (JOHANNES) to Mrs. BISHOP, and in which he agreed that the trial should not be referred. He also proceeded to read the contents of a long affidavit, setting forth his appointment as Mrs. BISHOP's attorney by a power of attorney made on the 21st of October, 1869, in which Mrs. BISHOP created him her general attorney to prosecute her action for divorce, and attend to all matters of litigation affecting her character. In this affidavit he also swears he has always acted faithfully as her attorney, sympathizing with her misfortunes, and believing her to be a chaste woman; that under this agreement he was to have received a retaining fee of $150 in each case, and never agreed to conduct any suit without fee, except the suit for false imprisonment. He enumerated some eight or nine suits which he had commenced in her behalf, among which was one against her former lawyer for the alleged loss of $400 by neglect of duty; another against another attorney for the alleged detention of some silverware; another against Doctor POTTER, of Grace Church, for refusing to say a burial service over her (Mrs. BISHOP's) father; another against the sexton of the same church, Mr. BROWN, for refusing to admit the body. He further swore that he had assisted Mrs. BISHOP and her son to food and lodging; that he had procured her board for six weeks at the Everett House, and subsequently two months' board at the Metropolitan Hotel, pledging his moral character to the proprietor to both, as security for the payment of their bills.

On behalf of Mrs. BISHOP, Mr. PECK read an affidavit made by her, in which she set forth that she engaged Mr. JONES as her attorney at his solicitation, and with the understanding that he was to act without fee or reward. She stated further that for a long time she was anxious to get rid of him as her attorney; that she is advised by her present counsel that it was sufficient that she did not wish him as her attorney, and it was not necessary to state her reasons for such desire on her part. That it was only after much solicitation on the part of the "Count," and his representations that in two months he could collect the alimony and have the suit disposed of without fee or reward, the honor of conducting her case being, as he said, sufficient reward for him, that she consented to withdraw it from her former attorney.

At this point Mr. PECK read letters assumed to have been written by Mrs. BISHOP to Mr. JONES, and by Mr. JONES to Mrs. BISHOP. The former demanded the surrender of her papers and his retirement as her attorney, and charging that he had agreed to conduct the case without pay, and the other from Mr. JONES denying any such agreement, and refusing to surrender the papers in the divorce suit, especially so as she (Mrs. BISHOP) had been charged by her husband with seven distinct acts of adultery, and that he (Mr. JONES) was determined to stick to her cause until he had vindicated her character. She further swears that an agreement was made between her and her attorney that the cause of divorce would never be referred, yet notwithstanding, the cause had been referred with the attorney's consent; that she had always insisted on a public vindication of her character before a jury, and would never have consented to have it heard before a private referee.

Judge JONES here suggested that it appeared to him that there were but two points in the case for the consideration of the Court; the first being, whether her present attorney is not entitled to a reasonable compensation for his services, before giving up his lien on the papers in the case; and second—what the amount of this compensation shall be.

In this Mr. PECK agreed with the Court, and proceeded to argue that notwithstanding he (counsel) had advised Mrs. BISHOP to consent to the payment of a counsel fee out of the alimony, when collected, yet he maintained that he (the attorney) was not so entitled; that he had undertaken the case with the understanding that he would take no fee; and that, moreover, he had violated his duty by consenting to a reference against the terms of the agreement made with Mrs. BISHOP; and even if he had not so agreed, and so violated his agreement, a divorce suit is placed on the same ground as a criminal prosecution, where no lien exists on papers necessary to establish the rights of the parties. He concluded by expressing the hope that, when the present attorney was removed, there would be found one to take his place who would stand by his client through evil and good report, until this litigation was at an end.

Judge JONES interrupted by expressing the hope that, when an attorney was appointed, he would conduct the suit to a speedy conclusion. There was no reason why it could not at any time be tried within two months.

Mr. PECK—Such attorney will certainly deserve the thanks of the Bar.

Judge JONES—He will certainly deserve the thanks of the Court. This case has now been up before it for six years.

Judge JONES thought a lien by an attorney on the papers could not be enforced in this case, notwithstanding Mrs. BISHOP might have made an agreement for compensation, because she was a married woman, and therefore not capable of making a valid contract in the matter. On this ground the Judge directed that the papers in the case be delivered over to Mrs. BISHOP.

Mr. JONES then inquired if this decision applied to any other case except the action for divorce.

Judge JONES—That is the only case before me.

Mr. JONES—Then I consent. I am satisfied.

This concluded the last phase of a case of which all parties, save, perhaps, the immediate litigants themselves, seem to have become heartily tired.

Sixth New-York Veteran Cavalry Association—A Pleasant Reunion.

The fifth annual reunion of the Officers' Association of the Sixth New-York Veteran Cavalry took place at Delmonico's, corner of Fourteenth-street and Fifth-avenue, last evening.

Before dinner was announced the Association held its annual election for officers, resulting as follows: JEROME B. WHEELER, President; GEO. A. CROCKER, First Vice-President; WILLIAM F. AITKEN, Second Vice-President; WILLIAM A. PARKE, Treasurer, and WILLIAM H. BASS, Secretary.

Resolutions handsomely engrossed, and bearing an excellent likeness of the late Col. GEO. E. FARMER, were formally presented to his family, a number of whom, both ladies and gentlemen, were present.

About twenty members of the Association sat down to dinner with the newly-elected President, Capt. J. B. WHEELER, in the chair. The following was the order of toasts: "The Day we Celebrate," responded to by Gen. DEVIN; "Our Old Commander," responded to by WILLIAM A. PARKE; "Our Absent Members," responded to by Capt. J. B. WHEELER; "Our Honored Dead," drank in silence; "The Rank and File of the Regiment," responded to by Col. VAN BUREN; "Phil Sheridan," responded to by Capt. GEORGE A. CROCKER; "Rawlins, Thomas and Farragut," responded to by Col. WILLIAM L. HERRMANCE.

A number of volunteer toasts were offered during the evening and responded to, and until an early hour this morning the members continued to enjoy themselves with well-known army songs and reminiscences of the days and nights spent in Dixie.

An Estate in Jeopardy—A Simple Matter Decided.

An interesting motion was argued before Hon. R. C. HUTCHINGS yesterday, of which the following is a brief abstract. The case involves the estate of MARGARET REDING or MCMAHON, who died in this City some eighteen months since. For a number of years prior to her death, she kept a house of bad character in Houston-street. She died intestate, leaving property valued at some $7,000, which is now in the hands of the Public Administrator. Her only next of kin is a sister living in Ireland, a Mrs. MCNAMARA, ninety years of age. The latter has a daughter in this City, Mrs. VANDERLEUR, who at the time of Mrs. REDING's death, was living with her aunt in the capacity of a housekeeper. Mrs. VANDERLEUR having obtained from her mother [illegible] power of attorney, applied for and obtained an order from the Surrogate requiring the Public Administrator to show cause why the money in his hands [illegible] should not be paid over to her [illegible] other legal representative. The motion was argued yesterday. Mr. JAMES [illegible] CULBOCH appeared as counsel for Mrs. VANDERLEUR, and JOHN [illegible] COONEY, Esq., on behalf [illegible] the estate in trust.

In opposing the motion, Mr. COONEY stated that Mrs. VANDERLEUR had contracted a large number of debts, promising to liquidate them when the money in question came into her possession; that the creditors were impatient, and had applied to the Public Administrator for a settlement of their claims; that the petitioner had offered a bribe of $500 to the counsel for the Public Administrator if he would "hand over the money," and that she had expressed the intention of using the funds as her own, on the ground, as she said, that her aunt had frequently in her lifetime stated that she intended her property to go to the children of Mrs. VANDERLEUR, her niece. The counsel asked for a stay of proceedings for thirty days, until Mrs. MCNAMARA in Ireland could be informed of the facts in the case, and have an opportunity to revoke the said power of attorney, or that security for double the amount of the estate be required from the claimant. He further said that the only interest of the public officer in the matter was to prevent the property of the deceased from being embezzled or improperly diverted. The Surrogate decided that the Public Administrator should account and pay over the money to the Trust Company, and that the claimant should give the security required before she was allowed to act under the power of attorney now held by her.

COMMON COUNCIL.

Board of Aldermen—Widening Fulton-Street.

The Board of Alderman met at 2 P. M. yesterday, Mr. COMAN in the chair.

The only business of public interest transacted was to adopt the resolution to add one-half of the sidewalk on the northerly side of Fulton-street, between Church-street and Broadway, to the carriage-way.

The Board then adjourned.

Board of Assistant Aldermen—More Offices to be Created.

The Board of Assistant Aldermen met at 2 P. M., yesterday, Mr. GALVIN in the chair.

A resolution was received from the other Board to appoint a Record Clerk and Deputy Record Clerk for that Board, who are to have charge of all the documents of the Board, the Record Clerk to receive the same salary as the First Assistant Clerk, and the Deputy the same as the Sixth Assistant Clerk.

A motion was made to refer the resolution to the Committee on Law, which was lost.

[The charter expressly forbids the creation of any new offices by the Common Council.]

Mr. ROBINSON then moved to amend by adding that LAWRENCE C. HILL be appointed to take charge of all the documents of the Board of Assistant Aldermen, his salary to be the same as that of the Deputy Clerk of the Board.

The amendment was adopted and the resolution laid over.

The Board then adjourned.

Methodist Episcopal Preachers' Meeting—Greater Need of Positive Preaching of Christian and Methodist Doctrines.

The topic for discussion by the Methodist Episcopal Preachers' Association, yesterday, was the question: "Is there need for the more thorough and earnest preaching of the fundamental doctrines of Christianity and Methodism?" The question having been propounded by Rev. Dr. FERRIS, the discussion was opened by him, and was participated in by Drs. FOSTER, DEVINNEY, CATTELL, B. K. PIERCE, and other members of the Association. Dr. FERRIS having amply demonstrated the affirmative of his proposition, by showing the positiveness of modern infidelity and skepticism, and asserting the necessity for the promulgation of religious creeds and beliefs, there was some hesitancy in taking up the discussion, members thinking that they should be expected to take the negative side. To obviate this delay, Rev. L. H. KING proposed that local preachers and laymen who might be present should take part freely. There being no response, calls were made for certain Doctors, who spoke in reply. Dr. DEVINNEY remembered the preaching of sixty years ago, and he thought there had been a very great change in the manner and matter of pulpit discourses since that time. There is more philosophy and metaphysics now, but less of practical Christianity ministered. But while the increased intelligence of this age demands profounder studies of philosophy and science, the growth of infidelity needed also more thorough preaching of the fundamental doctrines of Christianity and of Methodism. Dr. FOSTER, although an instructor of youth, (in Drew Theological Seminary,) was not a stickler for philosophical preaching, believing rather, that the truth, purely and simply told, will produce its appropriate effect. There was greater need of clinging close to the cross and less to the sciences in all their preaching—more of Christ and less of theology.

Dr. CATTELL believed that the Church is now suffering a reaction from the restraints of theology of former years. A century or more ago, the Puritan theology was so rigid that when Methodism started out without a theology, but with the simple truth of the Gospel, the people gladly accepted it. The darkness of the Middle Ages he believed, was produced also by too rigid representation of theological doctrines, which crushed out thought and free inquiry. We should have had no success at all, said he, had we preached theology instead of religion, and now we are suffering on one side from metaphysical essays, and on the other from theological claptrap, thrown off from the pulpits of the land for dramatic effect, rather than for the saving of men. He had known and probably his brethren were also acquainted with men who professed to have been converted under such preaching, and who had "got full of religion," but who could skin a man in a bargain as readily as if they had had no religion. He wanted such preaching and such religion as would make men have the fear of God before their eyes when they opened their ledgers as well as when they opened their Bibles.

Dr. PIERCE remembered the ancient preaching—it was doctrinal, but not speculative. The fathers preached the doctrine of conviction, repentance, faith, the witness of the Spirit, &c., in such a positive manner that men were obliged to believe them. But now doubt is dogmatic, and infidelity is infinitely more positive than faith. Our young people don't know what they or we believe. They laugh at hell and the Cross. He attended the Prison Association meeting at Cincinnati, recently, where one gentleman remarked that in any moral reform adopted, Jesus Christ must be made the corner-stone if it should become successful. A Western infidel immediately stood up, and said he would kick the corner-stone out of its place. While there was no signs of approval of this blasphemous sentiment, its utterance showed the growing boldness of infidelity. The son of a minister of his (PIERCE'S) acquaintance who had been to college lately was beset with difficult questions propounded by Universalist and Unitarian students, and wrote to his father asking for a few arguments or a few Scripture texts to answer those objectors. The minister at once saw that he had neglected his son's moral training, and asked himself how it was that the boy could have lived with him for seventeen years, and yet not know how to meet the attacks of his Universalist and Unitarian associates. And he (PIERCE) believed that a similar state of things would be found to exist in other ministers' families. Oh, for schools that begin at the beginning, and let the superstructure rise to the skies! he exclaimed, and oh, for pulpits that begin at the cross, and that lift us up to glory!

The Committee on Topics presented a report of subjects for future discussion, but, by vote, the above was continued over for next meeting, when Drs. B. M. ADAMS and WHEDON will speak on it.

Rev. Dr. REED, editor of the North-western Christian Advocate, published in Chicago, Dr. PERSHINE and Rev. Mr. GASLEY, Secretary of the Canada Bible Society, were introduced and made brief remarks. Rev. Messrs. WEED, of Newark Conference; CONKLIN, of Pittsburg; OWEN, of New-Jersey, and VAN BENSTOVEN, of Tennessee Conference, and Hon. Mr. KREPPS, of the Pennsylvania Legislature, were also introduced. Dr. HARRIS called attention to the Missionary anniversaries to be held in this City and Brooklyn next month, and asked the preachers to preach a missionary sermon, simultaneously, on Nov. 20. Adjourned.

The Brooklyn Board of Aldermen—Polling-Places Designated and Inspectors Appointed.

The Brooklyn Board of Aldermen met yesterday afternoon and appointed polling-places and inspectors of election for the ensuing election. There was considerable debate about the appointment of inspectors in the Twelfth Ward, the Democrats having insisted upon making them all Democrats. Alderman WHITNEY, Republican, charged them with giving indications of intent to defraud, in thus depriving the minority of representation, but on coming to a vote the solid Democratic nominations were confirmed. A message was received from the Mayor giving his reasons for vetoing, as he did at the last meeting, the resolution proposing to purchase land in Hempstead Valley for a reserve reservoir, at an expense of $1,400,000. He contended that, in view of the present depleted condition of the City Treasury, coupled with the fact that there is no pressing necessity for the proposed reservoir, the project should be, for the time being at least, abandoned. The communication was ordered to be printed in the minutes. A communication from the Water Board was also received, assuring the Aldermen that in the Twelfth Assessment District there was a deficit of $200,000 caused by extra expenditures for [illegible] purposes, to meet which it would be [illegible] that some immediate action be taken. It was placed on file. The Board then adjourned.

NOTES FROM THE PEOPLE.

Is There Nothing Sacred?

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

"Is there nothing sacred in these days?" queried one whose gray locks I worship. Fate and fortune have conspired to retain the dear originator of these words safe within an embowered home, where only semi-occasionally the doings of this great City are discussed. Yet to-night as I, her humble prototype, sit in my sanctum poring over the papers, which are always welcome guests at evening, I am forcibly impressed with the real meaning of the dear old lady's words, as I read a voluminous account, in one of our evening journals, of a wedding that has taken place in our midst, with nothing to recommend it but its publicity. I am neither old nor gray, and yet I confess to an utter contempt for this public betrayal of that which should be the most sacred of all confidence. I have been told these elaborate notices are all paid for. If such is the case I have nothing to say; only, in the words of my dear venerable friend: "Truly, there is nothing sacred in these days." BLONDE.

The Duty of the Hour.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

"A louder yet and yet a louder strain
Break their bands of sleep asunder,
And rouse them like a rattling peal of thunder."

There are unmistakable indications that the lethargic indifference of our citizens to their highest and dearest interests will be aroused. Surely there is a limit to the monstrous imposition of unscrupulous knaves, as there must to the apathy and unconcern of a people, and may we not hope in the name of liberty, public morality, and good government that we have attained this limit? Full, Oh! far too long have the highest thought and best intelligence of a people been entirely eliminated from that which of all else most deeply concerns their every welfare and interest, the right foundation and conduct of their political affairs. Well may all animated with a patriotic sentiment, view with alarm the utter abandonment of matters pertaining to government and politics by the very class who have the best possible reasons to interfere, and the resignation of these matters to wily, wretched demagogues, who have no higher motives for meddling than a mouse for nibbling at a meal-bag—whose sordid ambition settles upon the possession of a few fair and fast quadrupeds or bipeds. What on earth can be the reason that a free, intelligent people are not more solicitous of a voice in the conduct of public affairs, or that they fail to see where things are drifting? Do they feel supinely secure, and imagine their liberties are so broad, safe and intact as not to be imperiled by the direction of the ignorant and unprincipled? Can it be that fraud, peculation and misrule have so debauched the mass of voters that no effort can be made to elevate worth, principle or intelligence to the control of public affairs?

There cannot be a spectacle so utterly deplorable as a free city, embodying such worth, wealth, character and intelligence, given over, in all its power and privilege, to the direction of men who so flagrantly flaunt their vice and villainy in the face of all. Well could GOLDSMITH's lines be used:

"At every draught more large and large they grow,
A bloated mass of rank, unwieldy woe,
Till sapped their strength, and every part unsound,
Down, down they sink, and spread a ruin round."

An auspicious moment now arrives. Never did the Press speak so forcibly or directly. Democrats, true and honest themselves, have selected such to represent them. The Ring must be shattered. It can be; it must be. Let all who value public decency, civic dignity, political integrity, or honest government help without distinction of party to elect men who are put up because of their own worth and integrity, not because they happen to be the pliant tools, and truculent trimmers of a clique. Especially have we nominated for our highest civic office a man who in every capacity in which he has served the public has been found true and unflinching; one especially obnoxious to criminals as a Judge, but dear to citizens as a trusty public officer—a person who has no tortuous time-serving course to excuse or official corruption to palliate. Let all who really feel determined to break the power of an insolent clique do their utmost to have elected Judge LEDWITH to the Mayoralty, and save us from being outraged there by a trickster and political chameleon. Why cannot the good men of both parties, ignoring party lines for once, feeling the dire necessity of one strong united effort, come out in force, and let worth and integrity far outbid party affiliation or political indorsement? I do not despair; the end is not far; the day is at hand. PROPHET.

The Waumaker Case—A Note From the Accused.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The statement in Saturday's TIMES to the effect that I had been arrested by Detective STRATFORD, of Jersey City, on a charge of murdering NICHOLAS GULICK, of Rocky Hill, is entirely incorrect. Mr. GULICK did not die of violence at my hands, and I am now under bail for simple assault and battery. The arrest, as made and represented by the detective to your reporter, was a malicious one, and intended to injure my reputation. Hoping that you will correct the paragraph, I am, yours truly,

FRANK WAUMAKER.

ROCKY HILL, Monday, Oct. 24, 1870.

The Erie and Vanderbilt Suit.

The case of the Erie Railroad Company against CORNELIUS VANDERBILT was on the Special Term calendar, yesterday, before Judge BARNARD, but was adjourned over to the 31st inst. The case involves a transaction of five millions in Erie stock. The present Erie management seek to recover $1,000,000, alleged to have been paid to Mr. VANDERBILT in cash, together with a large amount of bonds, alleged to have been obtained for a large "block" of Erie stock, through collusion with some of the former directors—WORTH, DREW, and others. Mr. VANDERBILT's version of the transaction has been already given in his testimony, taken before trial, and published at length in the TIMES.

The Payment of Interest at the Sub-Treasury.

Yesterday about $1,700,000 interest due Nov. 1, were paid at the Sub-Treasury. The number of creditors appearing was not great, and the principal business was done in the Registered Interest Department, which is under the charge of Mr. CADY. The clerks in the Coupon Department, under Mr. BOWNE, are also all ready, and prepared to pay the coupons without unnecessary delay. Creditors of the Government would do well to make their application as soon as convenient, for the longer they delay the more difficulty they will have, by reason of the throng, in expediting their business. The arrangements are complete in both Departments.

MONDAY, Oct. 24—P. M.

The day has been one of more than ordinary activity in Wall-street, and the markets at the Stock Exchange, with the exception of that for the Public Funds, have been heavy. The action of the Treasury in beginning today the prepayment of the November interest without rebate, caused a decline of about 1 ₽ cent. in gold, and a revival of dealings in foreign exchange, which latter has been strong at 108¾@109 for prime bankers' sixty days' bills, and 109½@¾ for short sight. Commercial bills are in good demand at 108@¼, and but few are offering. The amount of November interest to be paid out is $23,851,629, of which $16,980,279 is due on coupon bonds, and $6,871,350 on registered. Of the registered interest the amount payable at the Treasury Office here is $4,512,596. The total disbursements today, both on coupon and registered bonds, chiefly on the latter, amounted to $1,840,000. The payment to-morrow is likely to be less, as the amount paid today represents the accumulations of several days. The steamers hereafter arriving, however, will bring coupons owned abroad, and in a few days the disbursements will relieve the stringency in the Gold loan market. Only $39,000 of the 1871 bonds were presented for prepayment, making the total amount thus far redeemed, subject to rebate of interest, $2,521,000.

The money market presents no new features, the supply available on call being ample. The ruling rate has been 5 ₽ cent. with exceptions to the large Government bond dealers at 4. In the afternoon many of the Stock brokers paid 6 ₽ cent.

The banks are sending little or no currency West and the shipments to the South for Cotton are as yet small. We hear of a movement to New-England, but in its bearings on the general market it is unimportant. The gain in the reserve of the banks last week will be further augmented by the large Treasury disbursements of gold likely to be made this week. The discount lines of the City banks are generally full, but prime merchant paper passes readily in the open market at 7@8½ ₽ cent.

The Gold Market has been weak, with 112¼@111¼ as the extreme range of the price. The volume of business has been heavier than for a long time past, and some of the reputed large holders were conspicuous sellers. As we before noticed, the decline was directly influenced by the Treasury orders in regard to the November interest. The Gold Loan Market at the opening was stringent, and borrowers paid as high as three-sixteenths of one ₽ cent. per day, but later, as the Treasury Gold began to be felt, the borrowing rate fell to one thirty-second of one ₽ cent. At the close of business Gold was offered for to-morrow at one sixty-fourth, the best bid being "flat." The "short" interest in the market is large, and the present temper of speculation is decidedly "bearish," which may operate for the time both against a lower premium and an easy loan market.

In the Public Funds, only a moderate business has been transacted, and prices have ruled ⅛@¼ lower than on Saturday, which shows decided firmness, considering the decline of about 1 ₽ cent. in Gold. The London market has been firm at a slight advance. State Bonds have been dull, but generally steady; while Railroad Mortgages have been strong, Central Pacifics selling at 90⅞. Unions at 83, and the Land Grants of the same Company at 73⅞. We notice a sale of the old Michigan Southern Sinking Fund

Bonds at 101. City Bank Shares have been nominal.

The railway share speculation at the Stock Exchange took a downward turn today, apparently with the consent of the large holders of stocks. A majority of the smaller operators are "bearish" in their views, and the disposition seems to be to encourage them to sell. The principal dealings have been in the following stocks, which declined to the prices named: New-York Central and Hudson; 91⅛; the Certificates, 86⅛; Lake Shore, 93⅛; Reading, 99⅜; Wabash, 52⅛; St. Paul, 62⅛; the preferred, 80⅛; Ohio and Mississippi, 32, and Rock Island, 110⅛. The features of the miscellaneous list have been Pacific Mail, which sold as low as 42⅛, and Western Union, which fell to 39⅛. At the Cotton Exchange an extraordinarily heavy business was reported, chiefly for forward delivery, at an advance of ½c.@1c. ₱ lb., the market closing strong and buoyant on materially reduced offerings and favorable foreign advices. At the Produce Exchange the feature of the Flour dealings was the unusually extensive purchases of shipping extras at improved prices, for October and November deliveries, mainly for export, though partly on speculative account. The Wheat trade was moderately active, opening at stronger rates, but closing in favor of buyers, under the lower gold price, and the scarcity of shipping facilities. Corn fell off about 2c. a bushel, on a more liberal supply, leading to freer transactions. Provisions were quiet, as a rule; Lard was cheap for both prompt and forward delivery. The ocean freight market showed more animation, mostly in the line of Cotton, Flour, Wheat and Petroleum engagements, at very full rates. The supply of shiproom was limited. In general business, a livelier movement was reported in Petroleum, chiefly for export, at less buoyant figures, and in Calcutta Linseed, which was strong in price. The Grocery markets were devoid of spirit, but ruled steady; and the Dry Goods sales were on a restricted scale. Resin was in more request for shipment, but was quoted cheaper, on freer offerings.

The coupons of the Convertible Seven per cent. Bonds of the New-York and Oswego Midland Railroad will be paid at the banking-house of Messrs. GEORGE OPDYKE & Co., No. 25 Nassau-street, on and after Nov. 1.

The Philadelphia Ledger, of this morning, says of the coal trade of the past week:

"The anthracite coal trade has ruled very quiet all the past week, though being in large supply as compared with the current demand, prices have been weak, but as regards the general market not quotably lower. The very genial, pleasant weather has been one cause of the inertness of the market, and another cause is the waiting for the next public sale of Scranton coal, which is to take place this week. A few cold days, giving premonitory symptoms of Winter, would very much quicken the coal market, as large as the supply of anthracite coal now is. The Reading Railroad Company brought down of all kinds for the week ending on the 20th inst. 114,911 tons, against 115,106 tons the previous week, and for the fiscal year beginning Dec. 1, 3,132,214 tons, against 3,516,901 tons to corresponding time in last year—a decrease of 379,271 tons. The Lehigh Valley Railroad continues its very heavy tonnage. It last week brought down 74,092 tons, against 78,928 tons the week previous, and for the season 3,148,314, against 1,976,221 tons to same time last year—showing an increase to the date of its last weekly statement of 1,161,090 tons. The total product of all the anthracite, semi-anthracite and bituminous coal regions for the week, as far as reported by the several carrying companies, is 425,822 tons, against 446,164 tons the previous week—a decrease of 20,342 tons, and for the fiscal year 14,788,425 tons, against 12,755,015 tons to the same dates last year, being an increase of 2,033,410 tons. In the above aggregates of coal produced last week there is included 374,058 tons of anthracite, 11,921 tons of semi-anthracite, and 39,843 of bituminous. The bituminous coal regions are some 200,000 to 250,000 tons behind their production to the same time last year, when that branch of the coal trade was unusually stimulated. For all the better qualities of anthracite coal there is a good supply of orders at last week's prices, while inferior coal is dull of sale at even low prices. Freight charges from Port Richmond are almost entirely the same as last week—say $2 25 to $2 30 to Boston, Bangor, Bath, Portland Salem and Savannah, and $2 to Fall River, Newport, Providence, New-London and New-Bedford. For New-York, Jersey City and Washington, the charge is $1 35 to $1 40. For a week or two, there has been some little dissatisfaction at a few of the smaller mines in Schuylkill County as to wages, but it has not materially interfered with production. As there remains but some six or seven weeks to what is usually considered the end of the coal season, it is hardly probable that a continuance of the increase of production, as for the last four weeks, will more than equal the increased demand caused by a week or two of sharp weather. Prices of coal are not likely to recede much, if any."

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

HARVEY FISK. A. S. HATCH.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
Bankers and Dealers in Government Securities,
No. 5 NASSAU-ST., NEW-YORK, Oct. 24, 1870.

☞ THE FUNDING OF UNITED STATES FIVE-TWENTIES into a first-class security, paying the same rate of interest, (six per cent., gold,) and which cannot be called in under twenty-five years without the consent of the holder, may now be effected at a clear profit of about twenty per cent., by exchanging them for the FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS OF THE CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY.

The five-twenties of 1867 are selling today at 110¼, and the Central Pacific Bonds at 90¾; $1,000 of the former will buy $1,000 of the latter, and leave nearly $200 for use or for reinvestment; or $5,000 of the former, paying $300 in gold annually, will buy $6,000 of the latter, paying $360 in gold annually, and leave a balance in cash of over $90.

The Central Pacific is a completed, thoroughly-built, well-managed road, doing a large business, and earning an immense revenue. The bonds are well and favorably known, and constantly dealt in, both here and in the chief financial centres of Europe, and they can be disposed of at a quoted market price with the same facility as Government bonds, and are daily quoted at the Stock Exchange.

Having originally negotiated these bonds, and being thoroughly acquainted with their soundness and value, we have introduced them as a specialty in our regular business in connection with our dealings in Government securities, and recommend them without hesitation to our friends and customers desiring to make investments or to fund their five-twenties upon advantageous terms, without reduction of interest.

FLOUR AND MEAL—The feature of the day's business in State and Western Flour has been the unusual activity in shipping extras, for both prompt and forward delivery, at an advance of about 10c. ₱ bbl., sales having been reported of fully 20,500 bbls., chiefly State, on the basis of $5 75@$6 for fair to very good, for prompt October delivery, mostly at $5 85@$5 90; and $6 for November delivery, the market closing strong and buoyant for such grades, influenced by the more favorable foreign advices and the materially reduced offerings. The bulk of the purchases were for export, though some speculative dealings were included. In the medium and better grades a moderate trade, mainly in the jobbing way, has been reported at a shade steadier figures, with a comparatively fair supply available at the current rates. Sales have been reported, since our last, of 32,000 bbls., all told, including poor to choice Superfine State and Western, at from $5 25@$5 60, chiefly at $5 45@$5 50; very inferior to very good extra State at $5 70@$6, mainly at $5 85@$5 90; very good to very choice do., $6@$6 35; poor to good shipping extra Western at $5 65@$5 90; poor to good shipping brands round-hoop extra Ohio at $5 75@$6 ₱ bbl. We now quote:

Southern Flour has been in moderate demand at former prices; sales reported since our last of 750 bbls., in lots, at $5 30@$6 50 for poor to good Ordinary, and $6 50@$10 25 for good Ordinary to very choice Extra, ₱ bbl. Rye Flour continues in moderate demand at $4@$5 65 for very inferior to choice, ₱ bbl.; sales, 280 bbls. Corn-meal continues quiet and heavy at $4 25@$5 for Yellow and White Western; $4 50@$4 75 for Jersey; $5@$5 10 for Brandywine, and $4 75@$4 90 for Southern, ₱ bbl.; sales, 200 bbls. Corn-meal, puncheon	22 50@23 00

FRUIT—Raisins have been in demand at about former rates; sales, 2,000 boxes Muscatel on private terms.

GRAIN—The Wheat market opened decidedly stronger, under the very moderate offerings of desirable samples, and the more favorable reports from Liverpool, with a fairly active call noted from buyers, who, however, were unwilling to operate freely at the advance claimed by holders, particularly for prime Amber Western, and new crop Spring. Toward the close, under the modified Gold quotations, and the extreme stringency in ocean freights, the market turned in favor of purchasers, who were more readily met by sellers, at easier figures, leading to a moderately active business, mostly for shipment. Red and Amber Western (Winter) Wheat has been in fair request at from $1 25@$1 42½, as extremes, chiefly at $1 32@$1 40 for Amber, in store, and $1 40@$1 42 for do., afloat, closing tamely at $1 33@$1 39 for Amber, in store, and $1 40 for do., afloat. New crop Spring was in moderate demand at from $1 26@$1 38, chiefly at $1 37 for No. 1, closing at about $1 37 for prime boat-loads afloat; and $1 22@$1 36, as extremes, for fair to very choice No. 2, chiefly in car-loads, ₱ bushel. Old crop No. 1 Spring was in light request, at $1 38, in store. Old crop No. 2 do. was sparsely freely sought after at from $1 14@$1 22½, as the extremes, chiefly at $1 14@$1 18 for steamer grades, and $1 19@$1 20 in store, and $1 22@$1 22½ afloat, for sailing vessel grades. White Wheat has been rather more inquired for mainly for milling purposes, at steadier prices for really desirable parcels. The general market closed rather dull. BUTTER—Receipts of Butter continue full, and in excess of wants. White hot weather Butter is accumulating rapidly, and is not wanted except in moderate quantities and at low prices. CHEESE—Receipts of Cheese continue to be comparatively light, which causes more steadiness to the trade. Exporters are buying lightly, although the markets abroad are reported firmer and better, and it is conjectured that this market is being toned up to induce heavy shipments from the country, with a direct view to a break for lower prices. A good fair demand for local and coastwise trade prevails, and Extra late mades will command 15½c., while early-made Cheese are dull and difficult to move. We quote:

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE WAR.

The recent disposition of Great Britain to interfere in the interests of peace, has created strong suspicions of her motives in the public mind at Tours, and arguments are put forth in the journals of that city to show that her motives are not as pure as they appear. Some of them even accuse her of acting in the interest and at the suggestion of Prussia. Fears are also expressed that the design in this peace movement is to re-establish the Bonapartist dynasty. A London dispatch gives currency to the belief that Prussia is willing to give up spoliation from France, receiving instead the Duchy of Luxembourg, and the people of the Duchy are vigorously preparing to defend their neutrality. The determination of the French Government to yield no part of French soil is reiterated.

The journals of Tours gave recently an account of the massacre of the prisoners taken at Soissons, by the Germans, in cold blood. A St. Quentin dispatch says that a mutiny had occurred among the prisoners, when seven of them were killed and three wounded. The same dispatch says that St. Quentin has been evacuated by the Germans and the siege of La Ferté abandoned, and that the Duke of Mecklenburg is returning to Paris. The people of Ivry la Battaille in the Department of Eure, consisting of old men, women and children, arose against the Prussians, and a fight occurred in which many were killed on both sides. A recent sortie by the Verdun garrison resulted in the capture of two mortars and twenty-two cannons. A Brussels dispatch says that although the truce at Mézières has expired, all is still quiet there. The desertions from Metz are so numerous that the Prussians have refused to permit the deserters to enter their lines. The German Army occupying Orleans numbers 25,000, with sixty pieces of artillery. They continue to make fresh requisitions from the citizens. The French Army on the Loire is said to be in motion, and an early result is promised. It is believed that an attempt to recapture the city will be made. The Prussian commandant has posted placards about the city informing the people that the French Government is their enemy and the Prussians their friends.

Advices from within Paris to the 18th inst. have been received at Tours, which represent that preparations for an aggressive movement are in progress. The editor of La Vérité was imprisoned for publishing false news, which appears from his explanatory letter to have been received from the Chevalier Wickoff. The Imperial scandal about Mlle. Bellanger is now said to have originated in Marguerite assuming the maternity of the child of a lady of high rank and the Emperor, in order to quiet the jealousy of the Empress. Great confidence is said to be entertained in Paris in Gen. Trochu and in M. Gambetta. The German Army surrounding Paris have contributed one day's pay to the fund for the relief of the sick and wounded, amounting to about half a million of thalers.

A report by way of London says three large German steamers had been taken into Dunkirk as prizes. The Westphalia and Cimbria have arrived at Hamburg safely, having encountered no French vessels on the German coast. A Berlin dispatch says commerce to German ports seems as safe as ever, the French fleet having been withdrawn to Havre and other French harbors. A London dispatch says a French agent has arranged a loan with a banking-house of that city for £10,000,000 sterling, at six per cent. interest, for 85, which, it is believed, will be promptly taken.

The Wolf and the Lamb.

We now know what is the matter with the Democrats, and what has prompted the proclamations of the Mayor. The wolf in the fable was so terribly afraid of the lamb, that he was obliged to eat him up in self-defense. It is much the same with the Democrats. They are dreadfully afraid that Republicans will swallow them on the 8th of next month. The party which has all the ruffians in the City at its beck and call, which can use the Police to suppress even the right of meeting, and thus beat Louis Napoleon in his worst days, and which can, moreover, turn the Law Courts into instruments of fraud and corruption—this party is now afraid of the "desperate Republicans." We are, as the World has explained in a series of articles written in words of four syllables, the terror of every weak and inoffensive lamb in Tweed's fold. They quite shrink from the thought of having to go to the polls next month. They got on very well at Rochester, and in fact very nearly succeeded in levying involuntary contributions upon the unprotected inhabitants of that city. But here the blood-thirsty and cruel Republicans have taken the heart out of them. The Mayor can only advise them to "keep cool." The World can do no more than assure them that they shall have justice. We sincerely hope so. In that case the vote which was formerly manufactured by "shameless corruptionists of the Ring" will never be repeated in our City.

If, however, the Democrats were really so timid as they appear, the Congressional law would be the very thing to suit them. It gives protection to the weaker side. It is designed to prevent the gigantic frauds which the World testified that it saw committed by the "Ring" not so very long ago. The common impression, even among Democrats, has hitherto been that the Republicans in the City were completely at the mercy of the dominant faction. Honest citizens were in many cases intimidated from going to the polls. In still more numerous instances, spurious voters were brought up in shoals to swell the returns on the Democratic side. These incidents were so commonplace that nobody was surprised when they occurred. People became so used to them that they scarcely ever uttered a complaint on the subject. But at last Congress did interfere. Then the World talked of resistance. As that only made matters worse, by increasing the determination of the authorities to enforce the law of Congress, the World, which has naturally been slightly dazed of late, began to explain that it only meant "resistance" in the legal sense. It warns the Federal officers now to take great care what they are about, for if they "shoot down or bayonet citizens in our streets, they will be guilty of murder, and will most certainly be tried and punished for that crime." There is a good deal more about what the Democrats could do if they liked, but what in pity for us they will refrain from doing. The State militia, it is insinuated, could very easily dispose of any force brought into this City, for "Gen. Grant has no army at his command"—and so forth. It is what people call "old ladies'" talk—thus doing great injustice to old ladies. We need not point out that the didactic reflections of the World are put forward with admirable judgment. In fact, the paper has assisted its party so much this Fall by its beautiful management, and its able defense of the "Ring," that Democrats will probably unite to present it with a testimonial in the shape of a wooden spoon, which it can dip on Sundays into the Tweed punch-bowl.

The general public will meanwhile pay very little attention to the idle threats, or the gloomy vaticinations, of the organs which are in the pay of the Ring. They speak as they are bidden, and the time has arrived when they can do neither harm nor good. The plain fact before us today is this: We are fast ceasing to deserve to be ranked as a free community. We live under a pure despotism, so far as local government can affect us. The Police of the City are engaged in a way which no other community has ever seen, or would have tolerated for a single instant. Last night they again took possession of a private hall where some delegates were about to meet, Captain Petty having been instructed to keep out these delegates, and fill the place with Tammany Republicans. This sort of outrage would excite a revolution almost anywhere else in this country. There are only two main securities for public order—the Police and the Courts of Justice. The Democrats use them both as agencies of the worst form of oppression. The Police force is made to do the work which in other countries has generally been placed in the hands of the military. Instead of guarding the public, they are ordered to suppress political liberties. It does not make it any better to know that two subsidized Republicans, "Hank" Smith and Mr. Manierre, are doing the dirty work of the Ring. It is, however, amusing to hear the unscrupulous gang which is thus riding rough-shod over the people, protesting that they are afraid of the "desperate Republicans." In other words, the bully is afraid of the victim he is attempting to throttle. In reality, it is not any party organization which "Ring" Democrats have reason to dread, but the people at large—a people long apathetic to its best interests, but now beginning to realise the truth that all their liberties are perishing one after another, under the audacious and infamous rule of a set of adventurers who have corrupted every department of public life, and are imitating in a limited sphere the vilest despots that ever cursed the earth.

The Latest Power in France.

Paris has learned but little in the school of misfortune if today's dispatches correctly represent the spirit of its Government and people. There are circumstances under which defiance is heroic; there are others under which it becomes synonymous with reckless temerity. The latter is the present case of France and of its capital. The determination "not to cede an inch of territory nor pay a franc of indemnity," if it is anything more than empty bluster, is one which can only result in fresh humiliation, and will only stimulate a demand for greater sacrifices. No one can safely predict what France may not do after another six months of resistance, accompanied by unceasing organization and persistent military training. But it is perfectly obvious that France wants the moral force, even were the material elements forthcoming, for a great struggle. A few weeks more, and there seems every probability that Prussia will possess every important military and commercial centre in the country. Suppose Paris, Lyons, Bordeaux, Rouen and Marseilles, either isolated or in possession of the enemy, and the commerce of France would practically cease to exist. Production might go on, as it has already done, under the protection of the invaders, but remunerative exchange would be impossible, and a recuperative creation of wealth would, therefore, be completely arrested. France would only continue to exist by feeding on its own vitals, and terrible as might be its desperation, its total powerlessness would be developed with startling rapidity. But at present there is no indication that France, outside of Paris, is disposed even to talk of continuing the contest to the bitter end. And, apart altogether from the voice of the cities, there are against the capital the sentiments of seven millions of rural voters, which constitute the least demonstrative, but the most truly vital of the forces which at present exist in France.

From a variety of causes, the French peasant has become more attached to the tangible fact of social order than to the abstract sentiment of patriotism. The grinding tyranny of feudalism that goaded him into the first revolution is now merely matter of history, and with the break-up of the old families, and the gradual operation of the law of equal division in inheritance, the land has been parceled out among the people in a way that has no parallel, on so extensive a scale, in Europe. A substantial stake in the country has made the French agriculturist willing to sacrifice even liberty to internal peace, because the want of education has made him insensible to all wants save those of the present hour, and a long habit of unquestioning religious subjection has rendered him incapable of fully realizing the prerogatives of a freeman. And yet it is to this class that an appeal must be made, sooner or later, to settle the destinies of France and of the new Republic. The longer the war is protracted for the mere saving of national honor, the wider is likely to become the breach between the rural and urban voters of France, and the worse will become the prospects of a democratic régime whose strength lies in the cities. Unless in a few isolated cases, the energy of active resistance displayed by the French peasantry has been exceedingly feeble. It would be too much to expect that their passive endurance will prove better able to stand the test. Every fresh department, therefore, that feels the iron tread of the invaders, and suffers from the exhausting requisitions, [illegible] to unite the widely scattered agricultural population of France in a common effort to make terms with the unrelenting foe. The continued defense of Paris may defer such a union, but the steady refusal by the Government to entertain any proposals of peace save those they may themselves prescribe, can only tend to make the Provisional Government unacceptable to the majority of the French people, and to endanger the existence of the republican institutions with which they are identified.

Mr. Richard O'Gorman.

When Mr. O'Gorman, the other day, stood forward as the apologist of the Ring, we may presume that he did so rather in his capacity as Corporation Counsel than as a private citizen. But in thrusting the service upon him, Tammany did him an injustice while not benefiting itself. The virtuous air with which Mr. O'Gorman defended his clients reminded people of some ugly matters which have never been explained, and which once placed Mr. O'Gorman before the citizens of New-York in an awkward light. In November, 1865, he was nominated for Corporation Counsel by the Citizens' Association, and in his letter accepting this nomination, he assured the Association that he knew they would not have selected him unless they were certain that he would defend the City's "rights, assert its honor, and protect its finances from any adverse influences, from whatever quarter, and in whatever shape, they may assail it." And in this letter he further said:

> "The office of Corporation Counsel is a purely civic office, having no necessary concern with political parties, or with the great political issues which agitate society."

And again:

> "I pledge myself, if elected to this office, to devote all the strength and energies I possess, and to use all the powers the office may afford, to aid you in your desire to insure for the City and its citizens, of whatever party, a future of progress and improvement."

Now, see how his promise was kept. We must concede that the Citizens' Association was, at that time, actuated by good intentions, however much it may have since changed in that respect. At all events the members found it necessary to prefer, under date of Nov. 12, 1867, a distinct and numerous series of charges against Mr. O'Gorman, after twenty-two months' experience of the manner in which he performed his duties. During that period he had cost the City for salaries, fees, and office expenses $152,974 32. Judgments had been recovered against the City amounting to $474,589 73, of which $194,004 20 was in direct violation of law. They asserted that he was concerned in various street-opening and other jobs; that he endeavored to defeat legal proceedings taken in the Courts to protect the City Treasury, and, in short, had favored and perpetuated the very abuses which he was nominated to prevent. Mr. O'Gorman published a very elaborate reply, denying some of the charges, and admitting others, but pleading that he was not responsible for what was wrong. The charges were then reiterated by the Association, and he was told that, where he denied the facts, the records of the City were against him. "What," said this rejoinder, "did you do?"

> "You proceeded to affiliate with the very officials whose misdeeds had become celebrated; every old abuse you have suffered to be perpetuated, and the new ones you have fostered."

This was published on the 30th of November, 1867. On the same day Mr. O'Gorman writes the following:

> "As soon as my professional engagements will permit I shall answer it at length, taking occasion also to allude further to some matters of detail referred to in your letter of Nov. 12."

Mr. O'Gorman's "professional engagements" have never "permitted" him to fulfill his promise. And no wonder, for he is occupied in this "purely civic office" in making special pleadings for his Tammany friends. We do not think, however, that any amount of forensic eloquence can remove the stigma which this plain and simple story casts upon him, any more than his effort at Tammany Hall on Oct. 14 has succeeded in convincing the public that the Ring are not utterly unworthy of respect or confidence.

War Balloons.

The battle in the air, which was reported the other day by both English and Belgian newspapers, seemed almost too incredible for belief, yet as it has not been contradicted there is probably truth in it. Our readers may remember that this is one of the incidents referred to a short time previously, in these columns, as having been prefigured in romance, but at that time not yet realized. From present appearances, however, it seems likely that such conflicts may become common affairs. The numerous aerial attempts and adventures of both French and Prussians in the existing war bid fair to add materially to the stock of useful knowledge on such subjects, and to lead to a more general use of balloons for military purposes hereafter; and the greater the number of belligerent balloons the greater the probability of their collision. A vastly increased use of balloons during future wars appears, in fact, to be seriously contemplated by the English Government, which has recently been carrying on quite an extensive series of aeronautic experiments at Woolwich.

The results of some of these essays have proved, according to the London Press, very interesting. It is said as regards captive balloons—which are the most practically useful for purposes of reconnoissance—that a height of six hundred feet at a horizontal distance of 3,600 feet is best to enable the observers to secure the widest expanse of view. To be lower gives insufficient range; to be higher entails atmospheric obscurities; and to be nearer is too hazardous. Again, it is said that a captive balloon attains stability, and remains, like a kite, at rest, "when the horizontal resultant of the ascensional force and the tension of the cord are equal to the force of the wind." The machine being steady, a fresh device is brought into play—this has been actually done, we understand, at Woolwich—to utilise science for the prosecution of war. Eight cameras and lenses have been arranged about the car at equal distances, and a complete view of the surrounding country has thus been photographed for transmission to the authorities below. Photographers will understand how this may be done, under such circumstances, to advantage, by a consideration of the fact that the refraction of the visual rays is the same for all objects coming under the same angle, while in a horizontal ground-view it is very irregular. The balloon view affords, then, a uniform refraction of circle, and a more certain relative position of the object.

But, although to get accurate pictures of the surrounding country is important, to convey instant intelligence to friends below may be more so. The old plan of doing this was as follows: A message was written on a tube of white pasteboard shaped like a cartridge and open at both ends. To this a bullet was attached, and the apparatus, being slipped over a line, ran easily to its attached end at the earth. The new method is much more elegant and scientific. It consists in the use of telegraphy and was to some extent practiced in our own war. By the new system for the field adopted by the British War Office, it is claimed that lines of telegraph can be carried through the air from the earth to a balloon several miles distant. The wire can be paid out, it is said, as fast as the balloon travels, so that, even if a captive balloon breaks or soars away, communication can be kept up with it for at least six miles. Or, again, two or more balloons can be sent up and kept in telegraphic communication with each other by means of aerial and land lines, so that telegraphic operations can be effected from the balloon to head-quarters, and thence to the base of operations. These experiments, it will be remembered, were in some degree made on the Potomac, but with only partial and unsatisfactory results. The reports from Woolwich tell a far more hopeful story. They declare that the trials made there have unmistakably shown that the advantages, in reconnoissance, of this application of balloons are incalculable. "It enabled the observing officers to survey an area of thirty square miles, not vaguely, but sharply pictured before them." And "it was found by practice that great skill can be attained in judging of the relative position of masses of troops, while minuter details can be subsequently obtained at leisure by field-glasses, as to the position of mountain gorges, passes, limits of woods, course of streams," &c. If the accounts before us are not too warmly drawn, the problem of effectually employing balloons for military purposes will be solved by this happy combination of photography and the telegraph.

There is no doubt, at all events, that the English authorities are earnestly engaged in this investigation, and the English journals express sanguine hopes of the trials in progress at Woolwich. Two officers, Capts. Brackenbury and Noble, have been dispatched thence to the respective seats of war, to pick up and compare information, and it is whispered that war balloons are already being manufactured in the Royal Arsenal, and that officers of the Royal Engineers, from Generals downward, are to be trained in their use. The difficulties experienced by French and Prussians in the use of military balloons are attributed to the fact that they have few or no officers of their own accustomed to their use, a disadvantage which none of the Great Powers are likely in future to overlook, or fail to provide for.

Thomas Jackson, charged with killing a man named Douglas, was put upon his trial, yesterday, before Recorder Hackett. Mr. Graham, his counsel, presented an affidavit in his behalf, to the general effect that Recorder Hackett was not competent to try the prisoner, because he is under the influence of Mayor Hall. The affidavit further set forth that most of the articles which have appeared in the Press about Jackson, were either written or inspired by Mayor Hall. As these articles have chiefly been published by us, we are competent to form an accurate opinion in regard to this part of the affidavit. We testify in Mr. Hall's favor that he did not write or inspire them. The other statement made in the name of the prisoner—who, by the by, is not even able to write his name—is sufficiently disproved by the well-known character of the Recorder. He is one of the very few Judges who act as a breakwater against the sea of crime which sometimes threatens to sweep everything before it in this community. His rebuke to Mr. Graham was perfectly just: 'You should have known, Sir, that politics have nothing to do with the administration of justice, and, therefore, it is an outrage on your part to present such considerations to me at this time." We refrain from commenting on this case in its present stage—but we quite agree with Recorder Hackett that the affidavit signed by a "cross" on behalf of the prisoner was an outrage. The statements relating to the Press are insolent and untrue, and those relating to the Recorder are certainly not less so.

The outrage committed last night by the Police, under the orders of Manierre and Smith, two "Republicans," will be found sufficiently described elsewhere. We will only state here that, according to our information, a private club-house was seized by the Police under Capt. Petty, that the persons who had a clear and undeniable right to use it were shut out and had to meet on the sidewalk, and that the agents of the corrupt Democrats then used the hall for their own purposes. All this would be impossible in any city but New-York. A free people are not generally willing to have their political liberties forcibly taken from them. The point, however, to which we desire to call attention now is, that Mr. Horace Greeley was nominated for the Sixth District, at present represented in Congress by Mr. S. S. Cox. There are, it is estimated, about 9,500 Republicans who would certainly vote for him. We can only say that if Mr. Greeley could be induced to accept this nomination, the Sixth District would gain great distinction by its representative.

Considering the general uneasiness felt among tax-payers at the present management of the Finance Department of this City, the Herald very properly calls upon the Controller for a "black and white statement of the condition of the City funds." Such a statement has not been vouchsafed to the citizens by Controller Connolly for nearly three years, and the public is in utter ignorance of the amount of the City debt, the number and denomination of bonds outstanding, or any other facts relating to the financial condition of the City. How much longer is Connolly to be permitted to defy public opinion, and keep the accounts of the City solely for the benefit of the Tammany Ring?

Mayor Hall has issued another proclamation, or circular, urging everybody to leave his business on Monday and Tuesday next, and attend to the registry. As usual, the Mayor opens his circular with two or three misstatements about the "Federal authorities"—accusing them, first of a "purpose to belittle as far as they can the vote of our City," and secondly of "an expressed intention to keep the census of the City below one million, and, if possible, to take from New-York its proud title of being the first city in the Union, by making it the second or third city in population." Of course the Mayor knows perfectly well that no man connected with the General Government has any such "purpose," or has expressed any such "intention," and what motive he can have for a daily repetition of these unfounded assertions, it is difficult to conceive, unless it be to incite the ignorant to a violent resistance of the laws of Congress. The Mayor's zeal outruns his discretion. Unless he is curbed, Peter B. Sweeny will have occasion to recall the remark that he made to a friend, that "Hall is a very useful man to us."

Wanted—a foreign policy, has been for years a most appropriate motto for British diplomacy. And to this point it has come at last, that every first-class Power in Europe either hates or distrusts England, and in some cases does both. The present war, like all that have happened during the last ten years, took her Ministers entirely by surprise, and its progress only served once more to develop the thorough incapacity of the English statesmen of the present day to understand the plainest of international obligations, or to practice the most obvious rules of political morality. France cannot but distrust England's latest attempt at mediation, and Prussia views it with ill-disguised contempt. The openly avowed republicanism of British artisans will find a fresh stimulus in the position to which royal sympathies and aristocratic prejudices have brought their country in Europe.

Gold sold yesterday at 112, and some sales were reported at 111⅞—the lowest point it has touched since the declaration of war in Europe. There was a battle royal on the Stock Exchange, but all efforts to sustain the price of gold were unsuccessful. Bulls and bears have, of course, equally plausible reasons for the faith that is in them, and each set of arguments would, doubtless, be thoroughly convincing were it not for the other. It is, however, manifest to those who are not blinded by self-interest, that the United States Government means to effect reduction of its debt, reduction of the interest, reduction of the legal tender, and, as we hope, in due time, resumption of specie payments. There may be temporary fluctuations, one way or the other, but whatever bearing the substantial appreciation of public credit may have upon real or nominal values, the Wall-street cliques will do wisely to expect and be prepared for. The Government is too strong for the speculators.

Singularly enough, while the Democratic journals hereabout are raving like lunatics at the operation of the Congressional enactment in relation to elections, Southern journals of the same party are hailing the law as a guarantee against undue partisan influence in the management of the polls. The organs of Tammany tell us that the law in question is villainous, because it secures Republicans fair play in the registration and counting of votes. In Charleston, on the other hand, the so-called Conservatives were enabled by the law to protect themselves "from an exclusively partisan Board of Managers, appointed by a Radical Governor." Thus, as the Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer—an orthodox Democratic witness—testifies, "a Southern city has been the first to avail itself of this grant of power to the Federal Judges," with a result which assured to the minority adequate guarantees for the purity of the ballot-box. That is the very result which the faction represented by the World would fain avert in the City of New-York.

The Bible has been a stumbling-block to a great many reformers of the ultra sort. At this moment it stands in the way of Mrs. Cady Stanton and Miss Susan B. Anthony, and their friends of the extreme Woman's Rights movement. The command, "Wives submit yourselves to your husbands," is particularly obnoxious to them, and a resolution was adopted the other day by the Woman's Suffrage Association explicitly repudiating the obligation. It was declared that the behest in question "should be thrown aside with the exploded theories of kingcraft and slavery embodied in the injunctions, 'Honor the King' and 'Servants obey your masters.'" Mrs. Stanton, indeed, took broader ground. She did not waste her words on isolated texts, but boldly demanded a revision of the Scriptures, with special reference to the views she advocates. Moses she tied to Montesquieu, and then threw both overboard, complaining that "men had invariably translated the Bible hitherto," and contending that "if women were now allowed to try their hand, we should have another and an improved version." St. Paul, we fear, would then share the fate marked out for Moses.

The Lost Steamer Cambria—No Further Tidings.

The agents of the Anchor line of steam-ships had not, up to a late date last evening, received any dispatches giving information as to the survivors of the Cambria, if there are any besides McGartland. The office was visited yesterday by a large number of the friends of those who had taken passage, but they were compelled to leave without obtaining the information they sought.

Among the passengers was Gen. Hasbrouck Davis, of Chicago. He was once City Attorney, and was born in Worcester, Mass., in 1827. His father, Hon. John Davis, was for some years the colleague, in the United States Senate, of Daniel Webster, and for his sterling integrity was familiarly known as "Honest John." J. Bancroft Davis, Assistant Secretary of State, is a brother of the General. He was educated partly in America, in Germany, and has the reputation of being a most accomplished and scholarly man. In literary matters he occupied a proud position. When the rebellion broke out, Gen. Davis joined the Twelfth Illinois Cavalry as Lieutenant-Colonel, and distinguished himself at Harper's Ferry, in the Stoneman raid in Virginia, and in the Red River expedition. He afterward connected himself with the Press, subsequently retired from that profession, and was elected, for one term, City Attorney of Chicago, which position he filled with marked ability and zeal. A few weeks ago he left Chicago on a six months' visit to Europe.

Mr. James Purse and family, of Oswego, were also passengers by the Cambria. Mr. Purse was formerly in business in Oswego, and in 1864, left for Scotland, where he resided for some years, and lately returned to take his family to his new home.

WASHINGTON.

Resistance to United States Officers in New-York—Prompt Action of the Government—Attorney-General Akerman to Investigate—The Naval Court-Martial—Lawless Proceedings in Tennessee.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

Washington, Oct. 24.—The dispatches received here from New-York, this afternoon, giving brief details of resistance to United States officers in their duty of enforcing the laws of Congress, created quite a breeze for a dull day. Attorney-General Akerman left for New-York to-night, and will investigate the facts to-morrow. The people of New-York may rest assured that the laws will be enforced, and that United States officers will be protected and sustained in the execution of their duty. Of this they will have ample evidence before to-morrow night. The programme of the desperate leaders of the Ring, so significantly foreshadowed in this morning's issue of Tammany's organ, has been known here for days, and preparations to meet it have not been lacking. These warnings have all fortunately come in good time, and give abundant warrant for any preparation that may be necessary to meet and defeat the plans of the Ring and its adherents.

THE NAVAL COURT-MARTIAL.

The Naval Court-martial, of which Rear-Admiral Goldsborough is President, convened for the trial of various defaulting Pay-masters, was in session today at the Navy-yard here. Pay-master Washington was put on trial and the evidence for the prosecution begun. Two of the principal defaulters, Pay-masters Giraud and Lockwood, seem to have decided not to stand trial, as they cannot be found nor their whereabouts ascertained.

SPREAD OF THE YELLOW FEVER IN SPAIN.

The United States Consul at Cadiz, Spain, informs the State Department that the yellow fever, which has been raging at Barcelona, has spread to Alicante, and probably would reach Cadiz. The subject has been referred to the Treasury Department, where it will be determined whether quarantine shall be established against Cadiz.

TROUBLE IN TENNESSEE.

Commissioner Delano has received a letter from Deputy Collector Gosling, of the Fourth Tennessee District, who says that the grist and saw mills of Hon. James Mullins, Collector of that district, and a Republican candidate for Congress, were set on fire and totally destroyed on the Sunday night preceding. The large barn near by was also fired. The stock had been barred in, but Col. Mullins' son succeeded in opening the doors, and they escaped just before the roof fell in. The life of his miller was threatened by a party of men the same night, and Mr. A. C. Bradshaw, a special revenue agent, who had before been threatened, was attacked at his residence, but escaped to a place of concealment, the desperadoes firing several shots at him as he fled.

A REVENUE RULING.

Commissioner Delano rules that the enterprise in behalf of the Mercantile Library Association of San Francisco, Cal., designated to pay off its indebtedness, is not liable to any tax on the gross receipts from the sale of the tickets.

AMUSEMENTS.

Musical.

RETURN OF MLLE. CHRISTINE NILSSON.

Mlle. Nilsson was welcomed with hearty cordiality, last night, on the occasion of her return to New-York. Steinway Hall was crowded by a fashionable audience, and the concert was, in every respect, as satisfactory as the previous ones given by Mlle. Nilsson for her opening series. Mlle. Nilsson looks the picture of health and high spirits, and received the plaudits of the audience with obvious gratification. Her beauty is certainly unimpaired by her provincial tour, and, more important still, the same can be said of her lovely voice. Indeed, practice and travel seem to agree with the songstress, who, happily, has plenty of stamina, so that neither the mellowness of her notes nor the fluency of their delivery appeared to less advantage than when our public first heard them. The programme of last night was ushered in by the overture to "Fra Diavolo," and this was succeeded by the familiar duet from "Il Barbiere," sung by Signor Brignoli and M. Verger. The favorite tenor was in fine voice, and the selection was received with pleasure. Mlle. Marie Krebs, a new pianiste, was then heard for the first time in America. Mlle. Krebs played a melody of Rubinstein's by way of prelude, and followed it with an astonishing piece of execution on a theme from "Masaniello." We may say at once that the success of the young lady was decided. She has great power, great delicacy and reserve of style, and certainly surprising facility. Of her possession of those higher qualities that go to make up the great pianist, we prefer to speak after further hearing. The performance of this occasion was calculated to exhibit to advantage the merits of brilliancy, execution, and thorough training. The feeling and sentiment that belong to a higher range of art may also be within the grasp of Mlle. Krebs; but of this we have yet to take opportunity to judge. Mlle. Nilsson now sang Schubert's "Ave Maria" with sweetness and pious grace, and, on the inevitable encore, gave a piquant Swedish song, ending with an osculatory effect that reminded us of a certain aspiration of Lady Gay Spanker's, and was accepted with delight by the audience. We may take occasion to observe that, however pleasing at times, the results, the habit of New-York audiences in perpetually insisting on repetitions is neither tasteful nor fair. The artist agrees to give so much and no more. The public imposes on good nature when it demands what it has not paid for. Our concert-goers seem to think they cannot have too much of a good thing—or, sometimes, of a bad one. The habit is under-bred and provincial, and should be reformed altogether. Signor Brignoli sang the romanza from "Louisa Miller" beautifully. His smoothness and finish in this number were almost beyond praise. It was, perhaps, as a consequence of the fact that his effort was not repeated. "Ah, mon fils" was now strongly and pathetically rendered by Miss Annie Louise Cary, who, to our hearing, has also improved since her previous appearance here. The first part was concluded by a noble performance of the "Casta Diva," in which Mlle. Nilsson fairly aroused enthusiasm. The second part of the programme was, as it should be, more spirited than the first, but it could not well be more finely rendered. Mlle. Nilsson was listened to in two selections, "Les Bluets," of Cohen, and the soprano allotment in the stirring trio from Verdi's "Attila." In the trio Signor Brignoli and M. Verger again gave efficient aid. Previous to this M. Vieuxtemps, who was warmly received, played a composition of his own with fine effect. The whole was ended in imposing style by Wagner's "Tannhauser" march. Hardly a concert in our memory has passed off, on the whole, with greater smoothness or with greater satisfaction to its hearers. The next and last evening of this series is announced for Wednesday.

ENGLISH OPERA AT NIBLO'S.

The performances of English opera at Niblo's were commenced last evening, and "Martha" was sung. The representation of the work calls for as few comments as the composition itself, which is hardly more familiar than are its latest interpreters. Its smoothness was its most conspicuous feature. An English opera season, extending over a few months, would make impossible the hurried and imperfect renderings of Italian works, which the proverb relating to the worth of half a loaf has heretofore caused us to welcome. The principal parts—the well-known quartet—were most capably filled, and the chorus and orchestra did their duty with spirit and precision. The scenery, too, was quite fresh and appropriate, as a knowledge of the resources of the theatre might have led one to foresee. In a word, the singing and acting, and the stage-dress of the work gave unlimited satisfaction. Mrs. CAROLINE RICHINGS-BERNARD was Lady Henrietta, Mrs. Z. SEGUIN Nancy, Mr. W. CASTLE Lionel, and Mr. S. C. CAMPBELL Plunkett. To-night the full force of the company will be exerted in a recital of "The Huguenots."

PRESENTATION TO SIGNOR CARLO PATTI.

On Saturday night, after the representation of "La Grande Duchesse," Signor CARLO PATTI, the young conductor of the Grand Opera-house, received a handsome testimonial (valued at $523,) at the hands of Mr. JAMES FISK, Jr. The souvenir consisted of an elegant and richly chased conductor's baton, of the finest black ebony, with on each end about three inches of massive gold tips, one representing a roll of music; the other bearing the inscription: "Presented to CARLO PATTI, with compliments of JAMES FISK, Jr." The neatness and elegance of this musical emblem do credit to the skilled workmanship of the manufacturers, and the tribute has been well deserved by the clever and industrious recipient.

Equestrianism.

NEW-YORK CIRCUS.

Novelties are always being produced at this establishment. Among the latest is Don LEONTI, who performs some astonishing evolutions on three horizontal bars, now hanging by his hands, now by his legs, now by his chin, at the same time whirling round and round like an Indian Fakeer, until the spectators are dizzy. What the performer must be is left to the imagination. Beside the Don there is the dashing equestrianism of Mlle. ROLLAND and the graceful STICKNEY, the posturing of the MELVILLE family and the tricks of the four funny poodles, exhibited by Mr. CONRAD. The last cause explosions of laughter among the juvenile portion of the audience, and among the elders, too, for that matter. The entertainment concludes, until further notice, with an excellent comic ballet. Some extraordinary novelties are promised.

Ladies' Fair in Aid of St. Ann's Catholic Church—A Large Attendance on the Opening Night.

There was present at the Academy of Music, last evening, an immense crowd of people, drawn thither to attend the opening of the Fair in aid of the new Catholic church and parochial schools of the congregation of St. Ann's parish. The old church, in Eighth-street, opposite Lafayette-place, has, for some time past, been much too small to accommodate the rapidly-increasing congregation which worships in it, and it was therefore decided to build a larger and more pretentious in Twelfth-street, near Fourth-avenue. If the attendance last evening is to be taken as a criterion by which to judge of the matter, the evening of Nov. 5 will close on a perfect success for Rev. Father PRESTON and his parishioners. The crowd that attended the Fair seemed to be exceedingly liberal in their expenditure of money at the tables; and, sooth to say, it was hard to resist the entreaties of the many beautiful ladies who, on every hand, used their most winning arts to induce visitors to purchase. The seats in the parquet are floored over on a level with the stage, and this flooring affords a commodious area for the numbers who attend the Fair. There are nineteen tables in all, on which are fancy and useful articles of all kinds, which are offered for sale at reasonable prices. Besides this there is a restaurant in the basement, where refreshments of all kinds may be had. In the centre is built up a bower, where the lady attendants dispose of beautiful bouquets. Pianos and light wagons are up for chances and some lucky individuals will get great bargains in them. Among the many valuable articles exhibited is a chasuble of silk and gold, a costly article of ecclesiastical apparel, which is to be voted for at $1 a vote.

The Fair was formally opened at 8 o'clock by Mayor HALL, who gave a reminiscence of the now populous parish of St. Ann's, as it appeared when he was a boy. He complimented the reverend pastor very highly, who, he said, like one of the early fathers, "girded on his armor and pressed on," for the labors he had performed and the zeal he had shown in forwarding the interests of his charge. Among the other prominent gentlemen present were Hon. S. S. COX, Hon. FERNANDO WOOD, Judge WRIGHT, Ex-Police Commissioner BRENNAN, Hon. GUNNING S. BEDFORD, Jr., Police Commissioner JOHN MULALLY, and numbers of the reverend clergy. The band of the Seventh Regiment discoursed excellent music at intervals during the evening. The Fair will close on Saturday, Nov. 5.

Postal Statistics—The Mail Service of the Last Month and of the Last Quarter.

The subjoined table will show the extent of the mail service between this country and European countries during the month of September. It will be observed that no letters were sent by the Hamburg and Bremen direct mail, and that the service of the French direct mail has greatly fallen off. Indeed, the whole mail service is rearranged, and most of the letters which were sent and received by direct lines now pass through the British mail. The following table shows the business of the New-York Post-office for the month of September:

	Sent.	Received.
British	249,699	235,323
Bremen and Hamburg, (direct)	....	....

Police Trials—Singular Charges Disposed Of.

Commissioner BOSWORTH sat yesterday to investigate complaints against policemen, and disposed of a calendar of thirty-six cases, all of which were, with few exceptions, of the usual character, for neglect of duty, and devoid of general interest.

Patrolman GINLEY, of the Eleventh Precinct, was charged with intoxication while on post by Sergt. WOODWARD, who stated that he was beating boys on the street in a violent and excited manner. GINLEY answered that he was not drunk, and produced a number of citizen witnesses, who testified that he was sober, and gave him an excellent character as an efficient officer, and the complaint was dismissed.

Patrolman STANDISH, of the Twenty-sixth Precinct, was charged with improper conduct by ANTON WOLFF, an expressman, who having baggage to deliver at the steamer City of London, at Pier No. 45 North River, by his own testimony showed that he refused to obey the orders of STANDISH, who required him to move his wagon out of the way, and not only attempted to resist by his own physical force, but by means of a crying child and a biting dog, thus placing the officer in an unpleasant and ridiculous dilemma. The complaint was dismissed.

Quick Transit to Harlem.

The Twelfth and Nineteenth Ward Citizens' Association met last evening at Masonic Hall, in Eighty-sixth-street, near Third-avenue. After a brief opening address by Mr. FOLEY on the importance of adopting measures to bring about quick transit to Harlem, a committee of ten was appointed to wait upon the Commissioners of Public Works during the week, to hasten the paving and grading of Madison-avenue up to Seventy-second-street. Mr. THOMAS McCLELLAND was nominated its Chairman. Speeches were made by Mr. ARMSTRONG and others, indorsing the nomination of J. FOLEY for Assemblyman of the district, and denouncing the corruption of Tammany. Mr. TIBBALS illustrated a plan of a new elevated railroad.

Mr. FOLEY, in speaking of his having been defrauded of his salary as Supervisor, which was paid to H. SMITH, said that when he demanded it of the Controller he was told by that official that if he kept quiet it would be counted in the next Tax Levy. After other remarks the meeting adjourned.

Personal.

Hon. N. P. Banks, of Massachusetts; Bishop Kerfoot, of Pittsburg, and Hon. Mahlon Chance, of Ohio, are at the Fifth-avenue Hotel. Gen. O. E. Babcock, Private Secretary to President Grant; Gen. Morton C. Hunter, of Indiana; Gen. Geo. Many, of Tennessee, and Gen. Kent Jarvis, of Ohio, are at the St. Nicholas Hotel. Lieut.-Commander Tuttle, of the United States Navy, is at the Hoffman House. Hon. E. B. Morgan, of Aurora, and Hon. Joel Tiffany, of Illinois, are at the Astor House. Gov. John T. Hoffman, of Albany, is at the Clarendon Hotel.

POLITICAL.

THE ELECTION REPEATERS.

Attempted Arrest of an Eighth Ward Rough for Fraudulent Registration—Rescue of the Prisoner from a United States Deputy Marshal—One of the Assailants Captured and Held in $20,000 Bail.

A United States warrant was issued, yesterday morning, for the arrest of JAMES EVILAND, a notorious Eighth Ward politician and "rough," on a charge of having registered his name, on Tuesday last, in a fraudulent manner, and was placed in the hands of REUBEN T. ANDERSON, a Supervisor of election who was specially deputized to execute it by the Marshal. The accused, who is a political ally of MICHAEL NORTON, and who is also janitor of the Norton Association Club Rooms, besides being a contractor on the new Boulevard, was overtaken in the City Hall Park. He was then taken into custody, but a party of "shoulder hitters" immediately surrounded the officer, and rescued the prisoner. Deputy Marshal ANDERSON subsequently seized one JOHN GANNON, a tall and muscular fellow, who holds a contract for cleaning public markets, under Tammany, for having interfered in the capture of EVILAND. This action was followed by a scuffle between the two men, during which a policeman made his appearance, but took no active measures in separating them. Capt. THORNE finally stopped the mêlée, and sent both men to the Tombs Police Court on a charge of disorderly conduct.

A SCENE IN THE TOMBS.

A few minutes after the disturbance in the Park, the officers appeared in the Tombs Police Court with their prisoners, the Marshal, ANDERSON, and his assailant, CONNOR. They were followed into Court by a large crowd of well-dressed but ill-looking ruffians, who soon overflowed the benches allotted to spectators. As soon as Justice DOWLING had taken his seat, the policeman making the arrest arraigned his prisoners before the Magistrate, Deputy Marshal TREMAINE, and Mr. GEORGE BLISS, counsel for the United States Marshal also appearing. The following colloquy then ensued:

Justice DOWLING—What is this case?

OFFICER—I found these men fighting in the Park, and arrested them for disorderly conduct.

Mr. BLISS—If you please, your Honor, I appear for one of these men, Mr. ANDERSON. He is a Special Deputy United States Marshal, appointed under the laws of Congress, and he was given a warrant by the United States Marshal for the arrest of a man accused of false registration. The other prisoner interfered with the Deputy Marshal, assaulted him, and thus enabled the person already arrested on the warrant to escape.

Justice DOWLING—Where is the warrant?

ANDERSON—Here it is, Sir.

Justice DOWLING—Is this Marshal SHARPE'S signature?

Mr. BLISS—I believe so, Sir. His Deputy here can probably testify on that point.

Justice DOWLING—Where is he?

Gen. TREMAINE—Here, Sir.

Justice DOWLING—Is that Marshal SHARPE'S signature?

Gen. TREMAINE—It is his authorized signature, signed by the person authorized by him.

Justice DOWLING—Do you know it to be the handwriting of that person you speak of?

Gen. TREMAINE—Yes, Sir; I am the person and I wrote it.

Justice DOWLING—Are you authorized by law to sign warrants for the United States Marshal?

Gen. TREMAINE—I cannot answer that question, as it involves a point of law. I believe that Gen. SHARPE is authorized by law to designate a deputy to sign documents for him.

Justice DOWLING—Well, I've nothing to do with the case. The United States Marshal must take his prisoner before a Commissioner of the United States.

Mr. BLISS—You don't exactly understand the case, Sir. This man was arrested by the Police with my client for a breach of the peace.

DEPUTY—A warrant will be here in a few moments for the arrest of this man. I have to request that he be detained until the arrival of the warrant and more officers, as we have not sufficient force to take the prisoner through this mob.

Justice DOWLING—I have no authority to order the Police to aid you. Remove your prisoner and the Police will follow and prevent any breach of the peace.

PRISONER—I appeal to the State authorities to protect me, as a citizen, against these men. They tried to arrest me and I resisted, of course.

The Special Deputy Marshal, ANDERSON, then attempted to slip a pair of handcuffs on the wrists of his prisoner, who said his name was OWEN CONNOR. The prisoner resisted the effort, and in a loud tone refused to go quietly with the Marshal. A pause of a few minutes then ensued, which was rudely broken by CONNOR'S suddenly leaping over the iron railing, and making a bold attempt to escape. He was disappointed, for officer McGUIRE, of the Court Squad, pounced upon him, and with a desperate effort succeeded in holding the fugitive. In an instant after CONNOR found himself in the prisoner's box, where he was placed by order of the Magistrate, and Deputy Marshal ANDERSON handcuffed him. The scene was an exciting one while it lasted, and the mob of repeaters who thronged the court-room seemed ready for a general scrimmage. The prompt, and to them unexpected, action of the Police disconcerted their plans, and quiet was soon restored. A warrant arrived soon after in the hands of another Marshal, and CONNOR was removed from the Court in close custody and followed by an excited throng of men on their way to the United States Court building, in Chambers-street.

On the arrival of GANNON at the United States Commissioner's Office, he behaved in a very defiant manner. The United States District-Attorney said he hoped that he would be committed without bail, if possible, and that he would receive an immediate trial. The Commissioner finally committed him to Ludlow-street Jail, in default of $20,000 bail, to appear for examination on Wednesday next.

The Registry—Look Out for Repeaters.

Notwithstanding the efforts of the Government Supervisors and others to prevent illegal registering, Democrats have been heard to boast that they succeeded in getting upward of 2,000 repeaters on the roll the first day of the registry. The following list of names has been furnished us, with the request that the Supervisors should investigate them:

In the Twelfth District of the Twenty-first Ward, there are said to be 150 repeaters registered, of whom thirty have recently left Bellevue Hospital. There are also many names illegally registered in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Districts of the same ward.

Enforcement of the Federal Law.

Gen. BUTLER, Mr. ROBESON, Secretary of the Navy, Senator CONKLING, Gen. BABCOCK, and Gen. SHARPE, were engaged in close consultation, yesterday, in regard to the measures necessary to enforce the United States Election law. It was determined to adopt vigorous action for preventing fraudulent voting and registering.

A United States Grand Jury for Election Frauds.

It was expected that a Grand Jury would be impaneled before Judge BENEDICT, in the United States Circuit Court, yesterday, for the disposition of cases connected with the violation of the Congressional Election law. Several gentlemen were called by Commissioner STILLWELL, the Deputy Clerk, but many of them were excused on account of age. Judge BENEDICT said he should apply the rule that is in existence throughout the State, and exempt gentlemen who are over sixty years of age from attending as Grand Jurors. Twenty gentlemen were found competent to serve, and, on motion of Assistant District-Attorney PURDY, they were discharged until to-day, when it is probable that a full panel will be obtained.

A Repeater Bailed.

In the case of JAMES QUINN, who was arrested on Monday last, on a charge of having committed fraudulent registration in several districts in the Eighth Ward, and who has since been confined at Ludlow-street Jail, was released on $2,000 bail, yesterday, to await the action of the Grand Jury. The United States District-Attorney has promised, in consequence of the enormity of the crime of destroying the purity of the ballot, to bring the cases of the different repeaters now in custody, or on bail, immediately before the Grand Jury, and, if indictments are found, to commence their trial during the present week.

MISCELLANEOUS LOCAL POLITICS

Sixth District Republican Congressional Convention—Horace Greeley Nominated—The Tammany Republicans Nominate Thomas E. Stewart—Outrageous Conduct of the Police.

The Republican Congressional Convention for the Sixth District was held last evening. It will be recollected that on Wednesday of last week the Convention met at the rooms of the Alaska Club, No. 250 Eighth-avenue, when they agreed upon a basis of voting, elected a temporary chairman, and appointed a Committee on Contested Seats, after which they adjourned to last night. On Saturday evening the Committee on Contested Seats met and heard the delegates from the Ninth Assembly District, with their affidavits, and also heard counsel on behalf of the contestants from the Seventh District. Last night the Convention repaired, pursuant to adjournment, to the Alaska Club-house, and found it in possession of a gang of policemen under command of Capt. PETTY, who said that he had been instructed from Head-quarters to admit no delegates of the Ninth Assembly District except those designated by WM. B. WHITE, and none from the Seventh District except those designated by G. W. GREENE, both gentlemen being well-known Tammany Republicans. The Thirteenth District being uncontested, they offered to admit the delegates designated by CHAS. S. SPENCER. This offer was, of course, indignantly refused, and the delegates repaired to the Republican head-quarters, corner of Thirteenth-street and Eighth-avenue to hold their Convention. It should be stated here that the Alaska Club, whose rooms the Police had thus taken possession of, at the direction of "Hank" SMITH and "Ben" MANIERRE, is a private club, the President of which is HUGH GARDNER, one of the men who were refused admittance. He protested against the outrage, and ordered the usurpers to leave the Club-house, but to no purpose.

After arriving at the head-quarters the Convention organized with HUGH GARDNER as President and Mr. KEATS Secretary. The Committee on Contested Seats reported as the result of the hearing, on Saturday evening, seventeen out of the twenty contestants in favor of the men opposed to WHITE and GREEN. The Convention then proceeded to an informal ballot for Congressman, which resulted as follows: CHAS. S. SPENCER, 42; A. J. H. DUGANNE, 2; E. C. BENEDICT, 1; HORACE GREELEY, 1. Mr. SPENCER immediately arose, and after a brilliant eulogy of the character and services of HORACE GREELEY, proposed, while thanking the Convention for the compliment paid to himself, that Mr. GREELEY be the unanimous nominee of the Convention for Congress. The proposition was acceded to on all sides, and Mr. GREELEY was nominated by acclamation and with great applause.

The contesting delegates, together with two regular delegates, held their convention in the Alaska Club-room, in which every man of them was a trespasser, and nominated Hon. THOS. E. STEWART. After calling the roll of delegates, they proceeded to perfect a permanent organization by selecting Hon. SANFORD L. MACOMBER Chairman, and CHAS. T. POLHAMUS and Major JOSEPH FORBES, Secretaries. After an exchange of views relative to promoting the success of the Union Party in selecting a suitable standard-bearer as candidate for Congress, Hon. THOS. E. STEWART was nominated by acclamation. After the appointment of a sub-committee to tender to Mr. STEWART the nomination, the convention adjourned to the call of the Chairman, with enthusiastic cheers for the administration of Gen. GRANT, and the success of the Union State and Congressional nominations.

Eighth Congressional District Republican Convention.

In the Eighth Congressional District Republican Convention, last night, a number of the delegates were in favor of indorsing the nomination of JULIUS WADSWORTH, the candidate of the Young Democracy, but the majority would countenance no alliance with Democrats of any party. After a long and heated debate GEORGE WILLIS was nominated by acclamation.

Mr. Pierre C. Van Wyck Nominated for Congress in the Fourth District—He Declines the Honor and Sends Letter of Explanation.

The Republican Congressional Convention of the Fourth District, met last evening, and unanimously nominated PIERRE C. VAN WYCK as Member of Congress for the district. A committee was appointed to wait on that gentleman and tender him the nomination, and reported the following letter declining the same. The Convention then adjourned at the call of the Chair:

NEW-YORK, Monday, Oct. 24, 1870.

Gentlemen of the Republican Convention of the Fourth Congressional District:

You have been pleased to tender me the nomination as Representative in the next Congress of the United States for this district, in which I have lived, acted and voted in the interest of the Republican Party since its origin. In the success of this party, with all its noble purposes, aspirations and achievements in the cause of human liberty, my heart has been devoted, and I still remain full of zeal for its triumphant success. I feel highly flattered by your nomination, and why should I not, when this district is the great mart and centre of the commerce of the Western World, contributing so largely and so far in advance of all other districts toward the revenues of the Government? But, gentlemen, constrained by my belief that there are others from whom a selection of a candidate can be made who will add greater strength to our cause at the coming election, I am forced to decline. In thanking you for the honor conferred, I have every confidence that you will be guided in your choice by a sense of our duty to the country in a full view of the issue of the hour. If, in order to overthrow your arch enemy—Tammany Hall—your policy be that of a coalition, coalesce—collude with none. I have the honor to be, very truly yours,

PIERRE C. VAN WYCK.

The Contest in the Third Congressional District.

At a joint meeting of the Woodford and Kaufman and Veteran Campaign Clubs, of the Twentieth Ward, on Saturday evening, H. E. ABELL and G. W. SMOCK, Presidents, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we have heard with profound astonishment of the acceptance by ROBT. M. WHITING, Jr., of a nomination for Congress in the Third District, tendered him by the Bankers' and Brokers' and Water Board Rings of this City, and that we hereby repudiate and condemn the action of Alderman WHITING, and pronounce such action base ingratitude to a party that has always given him a generous support. But more especially is it ungrateful to the people of the Twentieth Ward, who had just renominated him for Alderman by the very same votes that sent a delegation to the Congressional Convention to vote for that sterling Republican, E. D. WEBSTER.

Resolved, That we see in this movement simply a Democratic side-show—an effort by wealth to gratify personal enmity against an honest official who forced it to pay its just dues into the Treasury of the Government, and an effort by the Water Board Ring to destroy the unity of the Republican Party.

Resolved, That we do most heartily and emphatically indorse the nomination of Hon. ERASTUS D. WEBSTER for member of Congress from the Third Congressional District. Eminently a man of the people, a working man himself, and therefore the working man's friend; a lifetime champion of the cause of human rights, and of the lifting up, enlightenment and benefiting of God's poor. We give him our unwavering support from this hour on until the polls shall close on the 8th of November next, when he will be triumphantly elected.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in the daily papers of this city, and copies be sent to Mr. WEBSTER and Alderman WHITING.

Grand Rally of the Seventeenth Assembly District Union Republican Association.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Republicans of the Seventeenth Assembly District was held last evening at the Wigwam in Forty-ninth-street. The large building was filled to overflowing. The chair was occupied by Mr. WM. T. GRAFF, and Mr. DAVID B. MELLISH acted as Secretary.

Hon. HORACE GREELEY was the first speaker, and on being introduced, was hailed with loud and long-continued cheering. He commenced his remarks by stating that the great issue now before the people of this City was the new rebellion against the ballot-box, which it was the mission of the Republican Party to put down. It is fair, said he, to presume that if the Republican Party was right in prosecuting the war against Slavery and rebellion, notwithstanding the prediction of SEYMOUR and his Democratic colleagues that it would break down, it is right now. If they were mistaken at every step of our great struggle is it not probable that they are mistaken still? They keep barking at the heels of the great movement of Liberty and Justice, whereof the Republican Party is the organ and the champion. They keep barking, but they do not say anything worse of us than they did when we undertook to put down secession. What now is the great work to do? It is to save the ballot-box from pollution, from votes dishonestly cast and dishonestly counted? There is no difference between a rebel who takes up his gun and says, I will shoot you if you do not allow me to destroy the country, and the man who says, I will put hatfuls of votes into the ballot-box. It amounts to the same thing. A republican government carried on by means of bogus votes is the meanest kind of despotism ever known on earth. I will go, said the speaker, to my home in the country and vote once, and I want it to count as much as any other man's vote. Russia is called a despotism, tempered by assassination, but here is a Government tempered by something worse than assassination. You know, said he, who it is that casts these fraudulent votes. In the hundred electoral districts, where there is considerable Republican strength, there is no considerable number of them wherein an excessive vote has been polled. Other districts, overwhelmingly Democratic, in some cases poll a vote for every man, woman and child. He then alluded to the fact that notwithstanding the decrease in population in the lower part of the City, the First Ward now polls more votes than it did thirty years ago when he was a resident of it, and that the same remark applied to the Sixth Ward. The man, said he, who would carry an election by fraudulent voting or false counting may call himself a Democrat. He lies when he says so. He is no Democrat. He is no Republican. He is simply a fraud. Mr. GREELEY closed by an earnest appeal to his hearers to labor earnestly in the coming contest to put an end to these shameful frauds.

Mr. GREELEY looked very feeble and unwell, and on his retiring Mr. JOHN R. RUSSELL informed the audience that Mr. GREELEY had got up out of a sick bed to address them, and that that would explain the brevity of his address.

Telling speeches were afterward made by Mr. MORITZ ERLANGER, candidate for Congress in the Ninth District; Hon. J. WARWICK, of California, and others.

On motion of Mr. JOHN R. RUSSELL, resolutions were adopted affirming that the issue in the coming election is Tammany vs. Anti-Tammany; that Tammany was placed in power by election frauds, and that its leaders intended to keep power by similar means; that the rule of TWEED, SWEENY & Co. is as purely personal as was that of LOUIS NAPOLEON; indorsing the late Republican nominations, and pledging a united effort to elect the nominees.

A campaign glee club was in attendance, and greatly enlivened the proceedings with some excellent electioneering songs, in one of which were many good cuts at Tammany.

Eighteenth Assembly District Woodford and Kaufman Campaign Club—Advice to Irishmen by Gen. Burke.

The Republicans of the Eighteenth Assembly District met en masse, last evening, at No. 453 Fourth-avenue, and held a very enthusiastic meeting. Mr. H. COLEMAN presided, and having made a few remarks, advising all true Republicans to vote for THOMAS A. LEDWITH for Mayor, introduced Gen. BURKE, of Fort Hell fame, who was received with loud applause, and made a stirring address. He said: The conduct of the Republican Party is written in the history of the country, and, as an Irishman, I would wish my own country to be governed by such a party. The Republican candidate for Governor is an honest man, whatever his enemies may say, as is also THOMAS A. LEDWITH, the Anti-Tammany candidate for Mayor; and all Irishmen who hate despotism and the tyrannical oligarchy which governs this City, should, on the 8th of November, vote for both of them. The present Mayor was not long ago a Know-nothing and a bitter enemy of the Irish race. He publicly stated in Cooper Institute that "you could smell an Irishman a block off, and that he was not fit to be an American citizen," and yet this cunning O'Hall—misnamed O'—wore a green suit last Patrick's Day to fool us. But now we are going to tell him that he and his corrupt associates of Tammany can fool us no longer. Let not the working men be indifferent with regard to the government of the City; let them labor incessantly to defeat all schemers, and more particularly the Tammany Ring, and in twelve months their condition will be much better.

Mr. W. M. PEEBLES followed in the same strain, tracing the history of the Republican Party, and showing that good laws, good government, and plenty of work depend upon its success in the coming elections.

Mr. ROBERT CROWE was the next speaker. He called upon Irishmen to shake off the trammels of the foul Democracy which makes them her ignoble instruments. Let not his countrymen, to whom slavery is repugnant at home, attach themselves to a party in this country who endeavored to build up a Government founded on slavery.

Mr. COLEMAN again delivered a short address, and the meeting adjourned.

Fifth Assembly District Republican Convention.

The Republicans in the Fifth Assembly District are divided into two hostile parties, one of which favors WILLIAM C. HANNA, the straight Republican candidate, and the other, CHRISTOPHER JOHNSON, the nominee of the Young Democracy. The latter met in convention last evening and decided to indorse Mr. JOHNSON. The friends of Mr. HANNA protested, and the proceedings were lively and animated. In the course of the discussion Mr. WINTERBOTTOM, a member of the Convention, urged that Tammany could not be disturbed in the City, but that the State might be saved by an alliance with the Young Democratic Party. Before the vote was taken, Mr. HANNA quitted the Convention, protesting against the legality of any action it might take.

Tammany Assembly Nominations.

The Tammany Assembly Conventions met last evening, and made the following nominations:

Second District, Samuel T. Jones.
Third District, Julius T. Ludden.
Fourth District, James Woodhead.
Fifth District, Wm. W. Goodrich.

The Tammany Democratic Reform Party—Ledwith Nominated for Mayor.

The Tammany Democratic Reform General Committee met at Masonic Hall, last evening, Hon. JACOB COHEN in the Chair. Mr. COHEN declared the meeting open and called for the report of the Executive Committee. That Committee reported the nomination of THOMAS A. LEDWITH for Mayor, which announcement was received with cheers.

The nomination was unanimously indorsed.

A committee of ten was next appointed to wait on Judge LEDWITH, and inform him of his nomination. While the Committee was away on its mission, several amateur speechmakers indulged their propensities.

Soon Mr. LEDWITH entered the room with the Committee and the Young Democracy candidates for Sheriff and Controller. Judge LEDWITH thanked them briefly for the honor conferred on him, and pledged himself to reform if elected. Their candidate for Sheriff sent in a resignation in favor of the Young Democracy nominee, Mr. JOSIAH W. BROWN, which was accepted, and Mr. BROWN, being nominated, also thanked the meeting briefly. The meeting then adjourned.

German Central Organization of Hoboken.

At a meeting of the German Central Organization at Hoboken, on Sunday night, a number of charges were made against the President of the Association. It was said that he had sold out the organization and its paper to the Democracy. Mr. GUTTINGER handed in a written defense, in which he said that any action he had taken was simply a personal one, and that his presence at political meetings was simply on his own account, and that he did not go there to represent the organization, which claims to be an independent one. The defense was accepted, and Mr. GUTTINGER resumed his seat in the chair. The Committee appointed to investigate the action of the Hudson County Journal, heretofore the organ of the Association, reported that it was now working in the interests of Mr. CLEVELAND. A number of resolutions, denouncing the editors as false representatives of the German organization were passed, and a committee was appointed to arrange for the publication of an independent campaign paper, to be called the Hudson County Boebachter (Observer.) The Society then proceeded to make its nominations for the Fall elections. The men named are those who are supposed to be most in the German interest, some of them being the Democratic and others the Republican Party candidates. They do not propose to run any independent candidates, but to support the candidates already nominated, independent of party interests.

Political Brevities.

The Young Democracy, last evening, nominated Gen. M. T. McMAHON for member of Congress from the Fourth District, JOHN FOX having withdrawn in his favor.

A Republican ratification meeting, under the auspices of the Irish Republican Central Committee, will be held this evening at the Cooper Institute. Addresses are promised from Hon. HORACE GREELEY, Gen. KILPATRICK, JOSEPH I. C. CLARK, D. R. LYDDY, and others. Major HAGGERTY will preside.

FREDERICK G. GEDNEY, of this City, and Major JAS. M. HAGGERTY, speak at Fort Lee, N. J., next Thursday, at the ratification meeting to be held at that place to press the claims of honest JOHN HILL for Congress.

The Labor Reform Party have nominated JAMES O'RILEY BENNET for Congress, in the Third Congressional District, in opposition to THOMAS KINSELLA.

The Democratic City Convention of Elizabeth, N. J., met yesterday afternoon and nominated Alderman J. M. COWELL for Mayor. E. S. WARNE, T. DELLON, PETER ELLER, and J. P. BERRY, were nominated for chosen Freeholders.

J. P. FRAZER was nominated by the Republicans last evening for School Trustee in the Fifth Ward, and B. C. WANDELL for the long term and JOHN W. HOWE for the short-term in the Sixteenth Ward.

A union mass-meeting of the Irish Republicans and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Republican Associations of the Fourth Assembly District will be held this evening at Botanic Hall, No. 68 East Broadway, at 8 o'clock. This is the first public meeting held under the auspices of the Republicans in this part of the City for some time, and eloquent speakers have promised to attend. Dr. H. POWELL is the Chairman of the Joint Committee of both Associations.

The Tammany Convention of the Sixth Ward nominated last evening MICHAEL McCARTHY for School Trustee.

The Mozart Hall Convention of the Thirteenth Ward nominated last evening: WILLIAM KELLY, for long term; WASHINGTON THOMAS, for short.

THE CANVASS.

Of Hon. GEORGE M. THOMAS, the Republican candidate for Congress in the Ninth District of Kentucky, the Lexington Statesman says: "It will be gratifying to the party all over the State that Judge THOMAS has consented to make the race. He is a man of ability, industry and untiring energy, and as good a Republican as ever championed the cause in the district. The tone of the Democratic papers from up there evidently show that they fear him."

The Middletown Evening Press says that the name of the Republican candidate for Congress in the Eleventh District, (CHARLES ST. JOHN, of Port Jervis,) is a tower of strength to the party. The Newburg Journal says that his personal popularity is very great, and that he will get many Democratic votes.

The Boston Herald thinks it is curious "that Boston, with its 'hundred orators' on record, and its orators by the thousand not yet recorded, should be represented in Congress by the two most silent men there."

Col. BAILIE PEYTON, a Democratic aspirant to Congress in the Fifth District of Tennessee, refused to permit his name to go before the Nominating Convention, as he disapproved that system of selecting candidates. He says that he appeals directly to the people, and he thinks a majority of them concur with him in his views regarding conventions.

The Rondout Freeman heartily commends to the voters of the Thirteenth Congressional District the Republican candidate, Mr. JAMES G. LINDSLEY, of that town, as a man of spotless integrity and unusual practical ability. It says that it would be difficult to find in the district a man who is his superior in acquaintance with practical questions of a political, industrial, scientific and commercial nature.

Hon. JAMES SPEED, the Republican candidate for Congress in the Fifth District of Kentucky, is making a gallant fight, with all his old-time vigor, and he deserves to win. He is making a personal canvass of the district, and speaks almost every night.

Notwithstanding the protracted struggle in the Convention the nomination of Mr. THOS. C. PLATT, of Owego, by the Republicans of the Fourteenth Congressional District, seems to be unusually well received in the district. The Owego Times says that he is a young man whose energy, progressive tendencies, business capacity and intellectual superiority have long been generally recognized and appreciated in Owego, and other counties, and in other States, and that he will certainly combine more of the Republican strength of the district than any other man.

The Labor Reform Party of Massachusetts having changed Mr. CHATTAWAY for Judge BISHOP, as their candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, because he said he was a Democrat, and always had been one, the Boston Post anxiously inquires of its leaders how they can make anything else but a Democrat out of Judge BISHOP, who, it says, has been a firm, intelligent and zealous Jeffersonian, Jacksonian Democrat through his long and honorable life.

A Nevada editor annihilates a political opponent by calling him, in very large and very black letters, a bullet-headed old blatherskite.

The New-Paltz Independent commends the Republican nomination for the Assembly in the First District of Ulster County. It says Mr. BURHANS is a highly-respected citizen of Saugerties, and in every way a good man for the place.

A Michigan man, who was nominated by the Prohibitionists for State Senator, has written a letter declining to accept, remarking that should he be elected he fears he would have but little work to do in legislating for temperance, as the present law is considered extremely prohibitory, requiring only enforcement. "Were I," he continues, "competent to frame a law that would enforce itself, I would be inclined to accept the nomination, but as it is I must decline with thanks to the Convention."

The Charleston News, of Saturday, claims the election of forty-five Reform Representatives and eleven Senators in the new South Carolina Legislature. It concedes the election of the Radical candidates for Congress in the First, Second and Third Districts, and claims the Fourth for the Reform Party.

The Chicago Evening Journal says that although such intense interest was felt in the result of the Republican Convention for the First District of Illinois, the friends of Mr. MEDILL at once and heartily made the nomination of Mr. CHARLES B. FARWELL unanimous.

New-Hampshire now elects three Congressmen. The election will not take place until next March, yet already there are nineteen candidates for the Republican nominations, whose various and varied qualifications are discussed by the papers in the State.

The Trenton Gazette anticipates a majority of 5,000 votes for Mr. JOHN W. HAZELTON, the Republican candidate for Congress in the First District of New-Jersey. Mr. HAZELTON is making a personal canvass of the whole district.

Gen. N. P. BANKS, has accepted the Labor Reform nomination for Congress in the Sixth District of Massachusetts. In his letter he says that he believes that associations of working men or women are entitled to the same chartered rights or privileges and the same legislative aid that is accorded by the State or nation to associated capital; and that he "is not in favor of the importation by capitalists of laborers from China or elsewhere, for the purpose of degrading or cheapening American labor." He also says that in his opinion the industrial necessities of the country will require such a modification of the National Bank act as to allow the substitution of legal-tender Government notes for those issued by banks, or a general system of free banking.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Republicans of the Dunkirk Congressional District—Other Matters.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Oct. 24.—The Republican candidates for Congress in this district and many of their friends have been in consultation here, and have at last agreed to bury all differences and to unite in common and friendly effort. Mr. ALLEN withdraws from the contest, leaving Mr. SESSIONS in the field.

(Signed,)
N. M. ALLEN,
W. L. SESSIONS.

SYRACUSE, Oct. 24.—DENNIS McCARTHY, the present Representative, announces himself as an independent candidate for Congress, from the Twenty-third District. ROBERT McCARTHY, the Democratic candidate, withdraws in his favor.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 24.—E. L. KING, Liberal Republican candidate for Congress in the Fifth District, has withdrawn in favor of GEORGE R. SMITH, of Sedalia, also Liberal Republican.

The Reported Candidate for the Presidency of San Domingo—His Position on the Annexation Question.

The Mr. "W. DELMONTE," whom the report which we published on Saturday says a deputation had arrived at Port-au-Prince to ask to accept the Presidential chair of San Domingo, Mr. DAVID HATCH, in a communication to the TIMES, explains is undoubtedly DON MANUEL DELMONTE, a well educated and talented man, hitherto very prominent in the affairs of the country during SANTANA'S administration and the Spanish occupation. Mr. HATCH writes:

"He is a brother of the FELIX M. DELMONTE, BAEZ'S Minister of Justice; but it would be difficult to find two brothers more diametrically opposite in principle and moral character as well as in the political affairs of the country. Although I am well acquainted with him, I know nothing of his views in regard to the annexation of the two countries, as that question had never been agitated when he was last in the country in 1865. I know, however, that he is American at heart, and has always manifested great kindness and attention to citizens of the United States. A son of his, and for many years a partner in all business in the country, is a naturalized citizen, and voted for Gen. GRANT. I know, too, that the prominent men of the Cabral party are, and ever have been, in favor of annexation, but opposed to its consummation by BAEZ, because of the enmity he had always shown to our Government and people, and because of the alleged gross frauds he was practicing upon both Governments for his own benefit."

Regarding Gen. CABRAL and the Presidency, Mr. HATCH also writes:

"Gen. CABRAL told me when I saw him last, in July, that under no circumstances would he accept of the Presidency again, that he was not fighting for himself but for his country. As he has had his head-quarters at Port-au-Prince for the transmission of his correspondence abroad, it is probable he has instigated this movement in favor of Mr. DELMONTE, or has encouraged it."

CURRENT NOTES.

The first colored juror, impaneled at Evansville, Ind., is 109 years of age.

The population of Michigan is now 1,191,461—an increase of 442,348 since 1860.

The head-quarters of the Department of Texas, will be removed to San Antonio, in that State, on the 1st of November.

An exchange is of opinion that flogging in the public schools should be abolished by act of Congress.

A notorious ruffian named CURRY, is said to have recently murdered two young women at a house of questionable repute in Wichita, Kansas.

The New-Orleans Times suggests the "ancient and battle-scarred town of Fredericksburg, Va.," as the proper site for a monument to the late ROBERT E. LEE.

A Mexican horse-breaker, at Omaha, attempted to commit suicide, the other day, by drinking two ounces of chloroform, because his employer refused to settle a claim of $300.

Lynchburg, Va., wants an extension of its corporate limits, in order to prevent a further retrogression of material prosperity. During late years the population and business of the city have been decidedly on the wane.

The latest novelty in the way of prize-fighting belongs to Ohio. At the City of Columbus, in that State, last week, two stone-masons—one black and the other white—fought six rounds in true gladiatorial style, on the top of one of the public buildings, where they were engaged at work. The black proved the better man.

The Louisiana State Superintendent of Public Education, in a letter to the New-Orleans Picayune, admits that the closing of the public schools in that State is without necessity, and shows that out of 100,000 children on the rolls, only about 17,000 have been in the habit of enjoying the privilege of instruction. The closing, it seems, has been occasioned by a difference of opinion as to the question of jurisdiction between the general and local boards.

A young German at San Francisco, finding that the object of his heart's dearest affection would not listen to a proposition of marriage, procured an old pistol, which he filled with powder and paper, and discharged at her, with the view of winning her over to his way of thinking; but the young lady took it as a genuine attempt to murder her, and had him committed to await the action of the Grand Jury.

The report of the Canadian Minister of Public Instruction for the year 1868, and in part 1869, has just been published. It shows that there has been considerable progress in education from 1853 up to the date of issue. In 1853 there were 2,352 educational institutions, with 108,284 scholars, in Lower Canada, and 3,913 institutions, and 212,838 scholars, an increase of 1,561 schools and colleges, and 104,544 pupils and students. The increase of 1868 over 1867 was 201 institutions, and 4,798 scholars.

The people of Jackson township, Ind., seem to have discovered a remarkable way of curing diseases. The Fort Wayne Gazette says that a little girl out there was advised to wear a charm about her neck for fifteen days, and then her father was to take it and ride bareback as hard as his horse could go to the Maumee River, a distance of twelve miles, throw the bag into the water, and then return, being careful to be just half way home by sunrise.

Rev. JOHN MOORE, a Congregational clergyman of Philadelphia, and Rev. MOSES HULL, a Spiritualist, have recently been engaged in discussing the subject of modern spiritualism at Cincinnati. Mr. MOORE acknowledges that bad spirits have the power of returning to earth, but repudiated altogether the idea of the good ones being permitted to do likewise. Mr. HULL submits per contra, that both can come, and that without the influence of good spirits we should be reduced to a very unhappy condition, indeed.

AT THE MEETING OF THE FIFTH ASSEMBLY DISTRICT REPUBLICAN ASSEMBLY NOMINATING CONVENTION, held on Monday evening, the vote nominating Wm. C. Hanna was reconsidered, and after some debate the following preamble and resolution was adopted:

Whereas, The Republicans of the Fifth Assembly District deem it impossible to elect a Republican to the Assembly from said district; and

Whereas, At the last election for Assemblyman, Hon. C. Johnson was a candidate in opposition to the nominee of that centre of political villainy, that combination of all that is tyrannical, dishonest and hypocritical, Tammany Hall; and,

Whereas, The said Hon. C. Johnson polled nearly 1,200 votes more than the Republican candidate; and,

Whereas, Hon. C. Johnson and his political associates are using, and pledge themselves to continue to use, their utmost efforts to defeat the Tammany catspaw candidate for Governor, John T. Hoffman; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Assembly Convention do hereby recommend the Republicans of this district to support the said Christopher Johnson who is again a candidate in opposition to the Tammany Hall nominee.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

At the Exchange, yesterday, (Oct. 24,) the only transaction effected was the sale, by ROBERTS & MCGUIRE, of a house and lot on the north side of East One Hundred and Sixteenth-street, between Third and Fourth avenues. The lot is 16.8 by 100 feet, and the premises were sold to A. D. TILT, for $8,500. The sale was made by order of the Supreme Court, under the direction of JAMES H. COLEMAN, Esq., referee. The same firm adjourned the legal sale of the property known as Nos. 74 and 74½ Carmine-street, between Varick and Bedford streets, until Thursday, Nov. 3, when, it was announced, it would positively take place. JAMES M. MILLER also adjourned the sale of the leasehold premises on the north-east corner of Twelfth-street and Greenwich-avenue until to-morrow. The above report includes all the business of interest transacted yesterday at the Exchange.

On Saturday, (Oct. 22,) at Long Island City, (late Astoria,) ROBERTS & MCGUIRE sold at auction, a lot located on the north side of Flushing Turnpike in that town, to A. D. GRACE, for $1,450. The lot has a front on the road of 44 feet, and a depth of 255 feet, being 56 feet in the rear. The transaction was a legal one under the direction of FRANK E. BLACKWELL, Esq., referee.

To-day, should the property offered be sold, will prove an important one in real estate matters. MULLER, WILKINS & Co., at the Exchange, will dispose of the Washington Heights property, so extensively advertised of late, and to which special reference was made in this column yesterday. The transaction is one of great importance to all interested in City real estate. At the same time and place, E. H. LUDLOW & CO., MORRIS WILKINS, auctioneer, will, in addition, offer improved property in West Forty-fourth-street. At the Brooklyn Exchange, No. 389 Fulton-street, J. COLE, at legal sale, will sell 128 Prospect Park lots, while at Rutherford Park, N. J., on the premises, at noon, A. J. BLEECKER, SON & Co., will place upon the market 500 lots, in plots of various sizes, together with one parcel of land containing ninety-nine acres. All these sales should be well-attended, as their merit entitles them to the particular attention of investors. A detailed report of each of these transactions will be found in this column to-morrow.

HAMILTON & WALLIS, No. 9 Nassau-street, advertise a number of desirable private residences, located at Montrose, N. J., in the vicinity of Llewellyn Park. The attractions of this neighborhood are well known, as many persons doing business in New-York already own homes in this locality, and the number is steadily increasing, owing to the ease of access from the Metropolis.

PEREMPTORY SALE, BY ORDER of Executrix, of VALUABLE VILLA SITES on WASHINGTON HEIGHTS, and FIFTY-FOUR LOTS on BROADWAY.

ADRIAN H. MULLER, P. R. WILKINS & CO., will sell at auction, on TUESDAY, Oct. 25, 1870, at 12 o'clock, at the Exchange sales-room, No. 111 Broadway, (by order of the executrix of Lucius Chittenden, deceased,) containing an area of from fifteen to twenty-two lots each, situate on adjoining the elegant villas of Hon. William M. Tweed, James Gordon Bennett, Joseph Potter and James Fisher, Esqs.

SEVENTEEN VILLA SITES,

WASHINGTON HEIGHTS,

This property is part of a large tract on the Heights purchased by the late Mr. Chittenden in his life-time, and was reserved as being the property on the Heights. It commands an extensive

CHOICEST AND MOST DESIRABLE

VIEW OF THE HUDSON AND HARLEM RIVERS, and of the beautiful valley lying between the Heights and the Harlem River, and for

HEALTHFULNESS OF LOCATION, BEAUTY, GRANDEUR, AND VARIETY OF SCENERY

is not surpassed by any property on

NEW-YORK ISLAND OR ITS VICINITY.

THE NEW RIVER BOULEVARD,

now being laid out under the direction of the

CENTRAL PARK COMMISSIONERS,

and which runs through the westerly portion of this property, will, when completed, add greatly to its accessibility; and its course being along the high land on the

and the

will afford the most

BEAUTIFUL AND PICTURESQUE DRIVE

on the island.

The new road on the westerly side of the property is now open to carriages, and will eventually connect the plots on the hill by a beautifully shaded drive with the Boulevard.

The property is also but a short drive from CENTRAL PARK.

by way of Harlem-lane, now St. Nicholas-av. and Broadway, turning off Broadway to the left at 185th-st., where a prominent sign-board is placed.

Also,

fifty-four lots adjoining the above-described property, and fronting on which is to be widened, making it one of the best roads on the island.

THE NEW TOWER AT HIGH BRIDGE RESERVOIR,

now nearly finished, will, when completed, distribute the Croton water through houses that may be erected on the highest point.

The property will be sold under

RESTRICTIONS AGAINST NUISANCES.

Seventy per cent. may remain on bond and mortgage of the premises.

Maps at the office of the auctioneer, No. 7 Pine-st., or at the office of Messrs. STALLKNECHT & HALL, Attorneys, No. 39 Nassau-st.

An omnibus will run from Fort Washington Station to the land on the arrival of the 10 A. M. and 1:30 P. M. trains from 30th-st. depot, and will convey visitors to and from the property free of charge.

FINANCIAL.

MONTCLAIR RAILWAY
(OF NEW-JERSEY.)

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
INDORSED BY THE
N. Y. AND OSWEGO MIDLAND
RAILROAD CO.

The only railroad now building from New-York Harbor toward the West is the GREAT MIDLAND ROAD.

The First Mortgage Bonds of THE MONTCLAIR RAILWAY COMPANY, (the New-Jersey section of the Midland,) are now offered to the amount only of

HALF A MILLION OF DOLLARS.

They are payable, principal and interest,

IN GOLD.

The rate of interest is 7 per cent., payable semi-annually, FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAX.

These bonds are secured by a first mortgage to MARCUS L. WARD and ABRAM S. HEWITT, Trustees, on the most valuable and profitable portion of THE MIDLAND RAILROAD, the traffic of which will alone suffice to pay a fair profit on the cost of construction.

The Montclair Railway

having been leased perpetually to the New-York and Oswego Midland Railroad Company, becomes an integral part of that great work, and ITS BONDS ARE GUARANTEED by that Company.

NEARLY 200 MILES in extent of this most important railroad are now completed and in successful operation, and THE MONTCLAIR RAILWAY, constituting the eastern terminal section—forty miles in length—is in process of rapid construction, and will be completed by December, 1871, simultaneously with the entire line, thereby establishing a new route from New-York westerly by way of Oswego, fifty miles shorter than by the Central, and by way of Buffalo seventy miles shorter than either the Central or the Erie Roads.

We recommend these bonds as a safe and valuable investment, because—

First—They are secured by a first mortgage on THE MONTCLAIR RAILWAY and all its franchises, and EACH BOND BEARS THE INDORSEMENT of the

NEW-YORK AND OSWEGO MIDLAND RAILROAD COMPANY.

Second—The LOCAL TRAFFIC of this road must be large, as it connects New-York City with its most attractive suburbs, thereby insuring a profitable business to the road.

Third—The franchises of the Company, embracing lines of railway and branches to be built, and an INDEPENDENT FERRY across Hudson River, all of which are included in the mortgage, confer a value on these bonds in addition to that afforded by the main line.

Fourth—The entire capital of both Companies, amounting at the present time to nearly $8,000,000 PAID IN, all of which has been faithfully devoted to the economical construction of the road, is liable for the payment of these bonds.

Fifth—The large rate of interest,

PAYABLE IN GOLD COIN,

affords to holders of Government Bonds a great inducement to change their investment. For instance:

A Government Bond of $1,000 costs (say)	$1,100
Yielding an income of	60
$1,100, invested in Montclair Railway Bonds, at par, yield an income of	77
Difference, $17, or 28⅓ per cent.

These bonds are issued in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100, respectively. For sale by

The bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated, will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly-settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The bonds have fifty years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the Company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. United States Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any railroad bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New-York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable securities taken in payment free of commission and express charges.

MOBILE & MONTGOMERY
RAILROAD COMPANY
EIGHT PER CENT.
First Mortgage Bonds.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE

IN GOLD.

INDORSED BY STATE OF ALABAMA.

We offer the above-named Bonds for sale, and, for the following reasons, confidently recommend them as a most desirable investment.

1. THEY ARE A FIRST MORTGAGE UPON A ROAD ALREADY COMPLETED, THOROUGHLY EQUIPPED AND IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION. The object in placing this Mortgage upon the Road, and of selling these Bonds, is to build an extension of 15 miles from Tensas, the present terminus, into the City of Mobile, which connection is now made by boat. This extension will give entire through Rail connection to Mobile and New-Orleans, thus saving the cost and trouble of steam-boat service, and delay of breaking bulk both at Tensas and Mobile. The Road, including 15 miles extension, is 182 miles long.

2. THE MORTGAGE IS AT A LOWER RATE PER MILE THAN ANY SIMILAR BOND NOW OFFERING, being for little over $13,000 per mile—less than the Iron and Rolling Stock are actually worth. The cost of the Road is over $30,000 per mile.

3. The Road forms the only railroad connection between Montgomery, the capital of the State of Alabama, and Mobile, its chief commercial city, making it exactly the Hudson River Railroad of Alabama, besides being a link in the great through-coast line between New-Orleans, Mobile, Montgomery, Savannah, Charleston, Richmond and New-York, or the interior line between the same points, via Augusta, Charlotte and Danville.

4. The Net Earnings of the Road have regularly increased at the rate of about 20 per cent. per annum since the organization in 1867, and are NOW much more than enough to pay the interest upon all the bonds authorized to be issued, more than one-half of which are in the hands of the Company. These earnings will be largely increased upon the completion of the Mobile and New-Orleans Road, which is to be opened for through travel in about four weeks, and probably more than double upon completion of proposed extension of 15 miles.

5. They are indorsed by the State of Alabama, whose high credit is well known, her 8 per cent. currency Bonds now selling at par.

6. They bear 8 per cent. interest, both principal and interest payable in Gold, interest payable semi-annually in the City of New-York in May and November.

7. OVER ONE MILLION OF THESE BONDS ARE ALREADY PLACED—a single well-known and careful investor (Judge Onderdonk, of Long Island,) after personal examination of the Road and its resources, taking $100,000 as a permanent investment, and Executors of Estates and Banking Institutions investing in amounts of from $20,000 to $50,000 each.

8. Only $450,000 are on the market. These are offered by the undersigned at the low price of 95 and accrued interest, in currency.

THE LEE MEMORIAL.

Interesting Exercises at Cooper Institute—Speeches by Hon. John A. Ward, T. A. Hoyt, Rev. Dr. Marshall and Others.

Cooper Institute was filled last evening by an audience composed of ladies and gentlemen, mostly of Southern birth, who had assembled to pay a tribute to the memory of ROBERT E. LEE. The meeting was presided over by Hon. JOHN A. WARD, and the following gentlemen officiated as Vice-Presidents and Secretaries:

Vice-Presidents—Ex-Gov. E. Lewis Lowe, W. H. Appleton, Esq., Henry Grinnell, Esq., Cyrus H. McCormick, Esq., Norman D. Sampson, Esq., T. A. Hoyt, Esq., James T. Soutter, Esq., W. T. Coleman, Esq., Gen. J. D. Imboden, Gen. Daniel W. Adams, Col. E. C. Caball, John Mitchel, Esq., William Patrick, Esq., M. B. Fielding, Esq., Rev. A. D. Carter, Francis Hopkins, Esq., J. F. Tanner, Esq., Col. Thos. L. Sneed, Esq., Rev. C. K. Marshall, Dr. R. C. Gardner.

Secretaries—Col. Burton N. Harrison, Major Robert Tannahill, Major J. Hamilton Hunt, Major J. F. Cummings, Major J. D. Keley, Jr., Col. George Lemmon.

After prayer by Rev. A. D. CARTER, and an anthem by a quartet from the choir of St. Stephen's Church, Hon. JOHN A. WARD delivered an address. He said the audience had assembled to pay a tribute of respect to one whom the whole South revered with more than filial love and affection. [Applause.] The kind sympathy which had been expressed by the public Press of the Metropolis, the sea of upturned faces which he saw before him, and the presence of those distinguished gentlemen who mingled in their sorrow, testified that the bereaved voice of his affectionate people had calmed down the angry passions excited by that fearful contest of which ROBERT E. LEE was the chosen and beloved leader. There was no cause now for hatred or jealousy; when his cause was lost, and his sword sheathed in surrender he gave his answer that "It were strange, indeed, if human virtue were not, at least, equal to human calamity." The characteristic of his life was devotion to duty. Many believe that he erred in selecting the path of duty when he believed that duty did not command him to draw his sword against his State and his children. He trod the path of duty and left the consequences to God. He taught the Christian world that a man could be a soldier. After his services in the field he assumed the position of instructor to the youth of Virginia, and gained the love of all who were associated to him. The world may have given birth to more renowned warriors, but all must concede that the world never saw a purer man or one who has gone to his grave more lamented. The day is fast approaching when the grave of ROBERT E. LEE will be claimed not by a section, but by the whole people of the nation.

Gen. IMBODEN, Chairman of the Committee, presented a preamble and resolutions as follows:

In this great metropolitan City of America, where men of every clime and of all nationalities mingle in the daily intercourse of pleasure and of business, no great public calamity can befall any people in the world without touching a sympathetic chord in the hearts of thousands of our fellow-citizens. When, therefore, tidings reached us that Gen. ROBERT E. LEE, of Virginia, was dead, and the people of that and all the other Southern States of the Union were stricken with grief, the great public heart of New-York was moved with a generous sympathy that found kindly and spontaneous expression through the columns of the city Press of every shade of opinion. All differences of the past—all bitter memories—all feuds that have kept two great sections of our country in angry strife and controversy for so long, seems to have been forgotten in the presence of the awe-inspiring fact, that no virtues, no deeds, no honors, nor any position can save any member of the human family from the common lot of all. The universal and profound grief of our Southern countrymen is natural, and honorable alike to themselves and to him whom they mourn, and is respected throughout the world. For ROBERT E. LEE was allied and endeared to them by all the most sacred ties that can unite an individual to the community. He was born and reared in their midst—shared their local peculiarities, opinions and traditional characteristics. For his pre-eminent abilities and exalted personal integrity and Christian character he was, by common consent, made their leader and representative in a great national conflict, in which they had staked life, fortune and honor. In Virginia his family name was coeval with the existence of the State, and was emblazoned upon those bright pages of her early civil and military annals that record the patriotic deeds of WASHINGTON and his compeers. By no act of his did he ever forfeit or impair the confidence thus reposed in him by his own peculiar people; and when he had, through years of heroic trial and suffering, done all that mortal man could do in discharge of the high trust confided by them to his hands, and failed, he bowed with dignified submission to the decree of Providence; and from the day he gave his parole at Appomattox to the hour of his death, he so lived and acted, as to deprive enmity of its malignity; and became a bright example to his defeated soldiers and countrymen, of unqualified obedience to the laws of the land, and of support to its established Government. Nay more: With a spirit of Christian and affectionate duty to his impoverished and suffering people, and with a high estimate of the importance of mental and moral culture to a generation of youth, whose earlier years were attended by war's rough teachings, he went from the tented field and the command of armies, to the quiet shades of a scholastic institution in the secluded valleys of his own native Virginia, and entered with all the earnestness of his nature upon the duties of instruction, and there spent the closing years of his life in training the minds and hearts of young men from all parts of the country for the highest usefulness "in their day and generation." By these pursuits, and his exemplary and unobtrusive life since the close of the great war in America, he won the respect and admiration of the enlightened and the good of the whole world. It is meet and natural, therefore, that his own people should bewail his death as a sore personal bereavement to each one of them. Those of us here assembled who were his soldiers, friends and supporters, sharing all the trials and many of the responsibilities of that period of his life which brought him so prominently before the world, honored and trusted him then. We have loved and admired him, and have been guided by his example since; and now that he is dead, we should be unworthy of ourselves, and unworthy to be called his countrymen, did we not feel and express the same poignant grief that now afflicts those among whom he lived and died. Those of us who were not his soldiers, friends and supporters when war raged throughout the land, but who have, nevertheless, met here today with those who were our enemies then, but are now our friends and countrymen, appreciate with them the character of LEE, and admire his rare accomplishments as a great American, whose fame and name are the property of the nation. We all unite over his hallowed sepulchre in an earnest prayer, that old divisions may be composed, and that a complete and perfect reconciliation of all estrangements may be effected at the tomb, where, all alike in a feeling of common humanity and universal Christian brotherhood, may drop their tears of heartfelt sorrow. Therefore, without regard to our former relations toward each other, but meeting as Americans by birth or adoption, and in the broadest sense of national unity, and in the spirit above indicated, to do honor to a great man and Christian gentleman who has gone down to the grave, we do Resolve, That we have received with feelings of profound sorrow intelligence of the death of Gen. ROBERT E. LEE. We can and do fully appreciate the grief of our Southern countrymen at the death of one so honored by and so dear to them, and we tender to them this expression of our sympathy with the assurance that we feel in the contemplation of so sad an event, that we are, and ought to be, henceforth and forever, one great and harmonious national family, sharing on all occasions each other's joys and sympathizing in each other's sorrows.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing preamble and these resolutions, signed by the President and Secretary, be transmitted to the Governor of Virginia, with a request that the same be preserved in the archives of the State, and that another copy be sent to the family of Gen. LEE.

The resolutions were adopted by a silent vote, the entire audience rising.

THOS. A. HOYT, Esq., was then introduced, and spoke to the resolutions. He said that he was unable to give adequate expression to the emotions of the hearts of his hearers, but happily they came to mourn the dead, not to praise him. This was an hour of funereal gloom and tenderness. The American nation and the civilized world have met with a great loss. Gen. LEE had been selected as the leader of the South in its trial, and from that hour to that of his death he spoke no word that was not the word of love, and performed no act that was not of goodness. At last the fatal hour came, and God took him. When the news was announced in his native town every house was closed, and mourning rested on the land. As the news spread over the South millions of loving hearts responded with a cry of anguish. The Southern residents in this City answered back this sorrowful cry, and therefore resolved to meet here at this hour, in company with their Northern brethren, and attend his funeral. The speaker proclaimed a truce to all national animosities, and hoped that peace might at last rest upon a suffering people. The trappings and suits of woe do not denote our grief; we have that within us which expresses our sorrow. The speaker called attention to the last few remaining years of Gen. LEE's life, which were those of virtue. When we reflect upon CÆSAR, it is not upon his victories, but when he falls the victim of an assassin; and when we look upon NAPOLEON BONAPARTE's life, it is when he was a captive at St. Helena. And it is a picture of that kind that we look upon now. ROBERT E. LEE, suffering under the chastisement of defeat, excites our commiseration. We behold him addressing himself with fervor to all that his hand finds to do; this hour of his misfortune is a lesson to humanity. Another great lesson is that death must precede life, and that good must come out of a life well spent. If a grain of corn is dropped into the prepared earth and dies, new life springs from it, and so has it been with man; nothing great has been accomplished without great toil and sacrifice. When the star of Bethlehem rose in the east, it did not direct the wise men to the palaces of the rich, to the seats of learning, but to a manger, when they found the infant cradled in a manger. ROBERT E. LEE knew full well that whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth, and that man is made perfect through suffering. The later portion of Gen. LEE's life teaches the power of moral force. He aggrandized to himself the love of the whole people, and commanded the respect of the whole world, because when men looked upon him, they saw a heart pure and stainless, a conscience void of offense, and one who strove to perform the task which he humbly believed God gave him to discharge. During all the long years of his military service, he gave no cause for complaint on the part of any one. He was sincere in laying down his sword, and conscientious in the discharge of his subsequent duties. He said to a lady who had come to put her sons under his control, "Train your sons up to be Christians, and to love their country." The speaker, in conclusion, said, we will weep over the grass-grown grave of "Stonewall" JACKSON, [loud and continued applause,] and over the new-made grave of ROBERT E. LEE.

Rev. Dr. MARSHALL, of Mississippi, was the next speaker. He said that when the death of ABRAHAM LINCOLN was announced in the South the Southern people felt that they had lost at that juncture their best friend. When the death of ROBERT E. LEE was proclaimed we felt that we had indeed lost a friend. But he thanked God that it was not given for man to live on in continual toil; it was befitting that great and good men should rest, and we see the advantage there is in death. It also elevates the good to such positions as enables the world to, as it were, worship or hold in admiration the great men who pass away. We have not lost the noble men to whom reference has been made; their excellence and virtues have been embalmed in our hearts. To us who have known ROBERT E. LEE, a more pure and spotless Christian gentleman never lived. And any one who feels embittered toward LEE would, if he could have known him, have agreed with us in his estimate of him. The speaker referred to the particularly distinguishing traits in LEE's character, and one was his desire to be useful to his fellow-men. Another was his descent from his high position to perform the duties of educating youth. He was also entirely unselfish in his conduct; he gave up his own wishes, and sacrificed position in order that he might do good to others. An anecdote was related of him, when he on one occasion chided a person for expressing dislike of the Yankees, saying that such feeling was wrong, as those people were now a part of this great country, and we should cherish them as friends and not as enemies. The speaker alluded to the Christian character of Gen. LEE, and said that as long as Christianity exists he will be revered as a man of the most exemplary conduct.

Mr. DUKE, of New-York, was next introduced, and said that he envied neither the head nor the heart of any one who declined to pay a passing tribute to the memory of ROBERT E. LEE. The speaker then proceeded to eulogize the deceased as a man above reproach in every walk of life, whether as a private citizen or as a soldier. He concluded by saying that throughout the entire South the loss of ROBERT E. LEE was most keenly felt, and his memory would be forever cherished.

The meeting then adjourned.

The Marquis of Hatfield, at present sojourning in Gotham, yesterday visited No. 212 Broadway, corner Fulton-st., where KNOX, the hatter, prevails, and selected one of those superb tiles for which Knox's Bazaar is famous, remarking, after suiting himself, that neither London nor Paris could turn out such an exquisite castor. Knox smiled blandly at the high compliment, but was well aware of that fact before.

7 PER CENT. GOLD LOAN
ON A COMPLETED TRUNK LINE.
THE INDIANAPOLIS, BLOOMINGTON AND WESTERN RAILWAY,
From Indianapolis, Ind., to Pekin, Ill., 205 miles in length, is completed and fully equipped with new and first-class Rolling Stock, and already EARNING NEARLY DOUBLE THE INTEREST ON THE WHOLE ISSUE OF BONDS, with rapidly-increasing receipts.
The Company have leased the Peoria and Pekin Railroad on favorable terms, making the Western Terminus at Peoria, the second city in Illinois, where through connections are made to Omaha and the Pacific, saving over 65 miles travel from the Atlantic to the Pacific.
The bonds are secured by a First Mortgage on the Road, Equipments and entire Property of the Company, and, BEING ON A COMPLETED ROAD WHICH PASSES THROUGH ONE OF THE MOST THICKLY POPULATED AND RICHEST PORTIONS OF THE WEST, with so many valuable connecting trunk lines East and West, NO SECURITY CAN BE MORE ABSOLUTELY SAFE.
The road passes through six flourishing and growing cities, and numerous towns, which contain in the aggregate nearly 200,000 people, and within twenty miles of the track there is a population of over 600,000.
THE BONDS ARE CONVERTIBLE into Stock at par, which is a valuable option, as MANY OF THE WESTERN ROADS, LESS FAVORABLY LOCATED, ARE AT A HIGH PREMIUM.
Over seven-eighths of the loan has been marketed during the construction of the line. The balance we offer at 92½ AND INTEREST, giving investors the full benefit of the advantages of the completion of the road.
All marketable securities received in exchange at market rates. Bonds forwarded to all points FREE OF EXPRESS CHARGES.
